TAILOR MURDER

Pakistan angle emerges in Udaipur horror

RAJESH ASNANI @Jaipur

AN international angle emerged in the barbaric killing of Udaipur tailor Kanhaiya Lal by two Islamists on Tuesday. Initial probe by the National Investigation Agency and Rajasthan police revealed that one of the killers has links with an extremist Sunni group in Pakistan and had undergone training there a few years ago.

"Ghouse Mohammad has links with Karachi-based Dawat-e-Islami," said Rajasthan DGP M L Lather. The possibility of the second killer, Riyaz Jabbar, too having terror links can't be ruled out, he added. Both the culprits were arrested on Tuesday and booked under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act. Three others have also been detained for their alleged involvement in the heinous crime.

Confirming the international terror link, Rajasthan home minister Rajendra Yadav said Mohammad went to Karachi in 2014 and stayed there for 45 days. The mobile numbers of several people in Pakistan and some Arab countries were stored on his phone and he was in constant touch with 10 persons in Pakistan. "The Udaipur killing was carried out to spread instability and create an atmosphere of fear and riots," the minister added.

The Union Home Ministry has directed the NIA to take over the investigation. P10

Uddhav throws in the towel

Quits after SC refuses to stay floor test; BJP expected to stake its claim to run the state

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mumbai/ New Delhi

MAHARASHTRA Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray threw in the towel on Wednesday night as he resigned shortly after the Supreme Court refused to stay a scheduled floor test on Thursday, capping a day of intense drama. Governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari had directed him to take the confidence vote in the Assembly in the wake of a big rebellion in the Shiv Sena.

The BJP now has a clear advantage, with former chief minister Devendra Fadnavis expected to meet the Governor soon to stake his claim to form the new government citing support from the Sena rebels.

Announcing his resignation in a Facebook live address, Uddhav said, "We respect the Supreme Court judgment. Democracy must be followed." He then went to Raj Bhavan to submit his resignation both as CM and member of the legislative assembly, which was promptly accepted by Koshyari.

"My own people do not want me continue as CM. Sena and Sena supremo Balasaheb Thackeray made these people big. They were commoners; Sena gave them honour and positions, but they left me and pulled down my government," a hurt Uddhav rued.

The day began with the Governor directing him to take a confidence vote in the Assembly at 11 am on Thursday. Sena's chief whip Sunil Prabhu challenged it in the SC, since it had stayed the operation of disqualification notices to 16 rebels issued by the deputy speaker till July 12.

The SC began hybrid hearing of the petition at 5 pm and pronounced its interim order at 9 pm. It said the result of the vote on Thursday will be subject to its verdict on July 11, when it will decide whether a section of MLAs from the Sena should be disqualified.

During oral hearing, a vacation bench comprising judges Surya Kant and JB Pardiwala said, "We don't think the matter will become infructuous. Suppose if we find later that floor test was conducted without authority, we can annul it. It is not irreversible."

The court also allowed jailed NCP MLAs Nawab Malik and Anil Deshmukh to participate in the floor test.

Shinde's side argued that the Uddhav faction is in a hopeless minority within the party and a floor test would be the best way to stop horse-trading. Senior advocate A M Singhvi, appearing for Prabhu, said people who have changed sides do not reflect the will of people and heavens won't fall if the floor test is not held on Thursday.

In the evening, the Shinde camp came closer home as they parked themselves in Goa, another BJP-ruled state. P9,10

Restaurants allowed to open 24/7 in some areas

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

FROM now on, hotels and restaurants across the state can open 24x7 in select locations. The long pending proposal which was placed by the hotels and restaurants association was accepted on Wednesday.

Home Minister Araga Jnanendra on Wednesday said hotels and restaurants located in important and select locations — like near bus depots, railway stations, inter-state bus terminals and other spaces — where there is high public movement, can be kept open round the clock. The police will also ensure protection to them through the night. While members of hotel and restaurant associations have accepted the order and the statement from the minister, they also said that it is not new. They added that they were now awaiting written government orders, which will be circulated to all the commercial establishments to be stuck on their wall for safety reasons.

A member of the hotel association said it was always permitted to keep hotels and restaurants open around such spaces, but they would not be open as there was no police security and permission. But now with the minister's orders, there will be no problems. The members also demanded that the government also give permission for keeping hotels and restaurants open in areas where there are hospitals, markets and tourism round the clock or at least till 3 am so that there is no inconvenience to the people. P4

SINGLE-USE PLASTIC BAN FROM JULY 1

Say no to these to save environment

Plastic sticks used for ear buds, balloons, candy, ice-creams

Cutlery items — plates, cups, glasses, forks, spoons, knives, trays, stirrers

Packaging items used for sweet boxes, invitation cards, cigarette packets

Other items- PVC banners less than 100 microns, polystyrene for decorations, carry bags, thermocol for decorations, plastic flags

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

COME July 1, 2022, there will be a nation-wide ban on single-use plastic. While the Karnataka government had banned the use of plastic since 2016, an order issued by the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB) has given the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) more teeth to enforce restrictions on border areas.

The KSPCB has also prepared a list of items which will be banned from July 1. They are also working on providing alternatives to plastic. The board has given approval for the supply of compostable bags and cloth bags.

KSPCB Chairman, Shanth Avverahalli Thimmaiah told The New Indian Express that the ban order has given them more powers to ensure strict enforcement. To ensure strict implementation, a meeting with marshals was held on Tuesday. The marshals were trained and informed on what action to take, under which Act and clause penalty should be imposed and under which Act should the manufacturing and retail units be shut down.

He said that two agencies — one from Maharashtra and another from Ahmedabad — have been given approval for supply of compostable plastic. These agencies have also got clearance from CPCB and Plastic Unit of India. The bags will come with bar codes, which when scanned will give complete details of the manufacturing unit and suppliers. These agencies will be encouraged to be set up units in Karnataka too, Thimmaiah added.

The chairman also said that after 2016 when the ban was enforced, many manufacturing units were raided and shut down. But plastic was still being used. It continues to be found with vendors, eateries, fruit and vegetable sellers and stores. So awareness campaigns need to be taken up in a phased manner.

Thimmaiah also said that they were working on imposing a penalty of ₹2,000 on first time violation by retail vendors, ₹5,000 for second violation and ₹10,000 for third time violation.

Traffic woes: Civic agency heads on night rounds

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HEADS of BBMP, BWSSB, Bescom, BMTC, Bengaluru police and other agencies went on an inspection of different areas on Tuesday night to come out with short-term and long-term solutions to decongest traffic in the city.

With CM Basavaraj Bommai directing officials to identify and clear 10 big bottlenecks, BBMP Administrator Rakesh Singh, BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath, and others went around the city.

Girinath on Wednesday said, "Of the 10 bottlenecks, six have been identified." The team visited Goraguntepalya Junction, Hebbal, KR Puram, Iblur Junction, Central Silk Board and Sarakki. As a short-term solution, a decision was taken to build skywalks, shift bus stops and shorten medians. "With these, we can bring down traffic congestion by about 15 per cent. At Goraguntepalya, we noticed that around 150 buses pass the junction every hour. As most buses stop here, the traffic gets blocked. This stretch connects 20 districts with the city. We are contemplating diverting KSRTC and private buses at the Peenya terminal," he said. Girinath said the BBMP has entered into an agreement with an agency to fix potholes at Rs 598 per sqm. In the Palike limits, on an average each crater measures around 2.5 sqm. "Roughly, Rs 1,200 will be spent on each pothole," he said, maintaining that BBMP has fixed 16,000 potholes. It will be presented before the court, he added. In 54 places, roads have been damaged badly and they have to be asphalted completely, he said.

On Mantri Developers failing to pay a property tax of Rs 28 crore for Mantri Mall, he said, "In such cases, instead of attaching properties, we will attach their bank accounts with the Palike."

Palike to build schools on outskirts

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

BBMP schools in Bengaluru may be given a facelift with the civic body allotting ₹180 crore to renovate and build new schools.

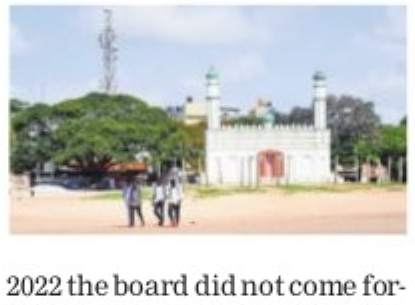
According to BBMP Assistant Commissioner, Education, Umesh D S, ₹180 crore has been granted to build schools on the outskirts of Bengaluru, particularly in villages added to the city after 2008. "A majority of the grant will go towards developing and upgrading already existing schools. Many schools that have been functioning for the last three to four decades have poor infrastructure. So funds will be allocated for civil work and to procure material like desks, chairs and other infrastructure. Of the funds, ₹77 crore will be used for construction of new schools," the officer The New Indian Express.

The funds will be used to construct new classrooms and repair damaged classrooms in the old schools. Work on the project is due to begin in a few weeks, with the Palike predicting that it will be completed by the 2023-24 academic year.

According to the assistant commissioner, the project is currently in the detailed project report (DPR) stage.

BBMP flip-flop on Idgah: 'No link to Muslim body'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru



THE Chamarajapet Idgah Maidan issue refuses to die down. In a new twist, BBMP Commissioner Tushar Girinath has claimed that his statement on the Idgah issue was misconstrued and said that the Central Muslim Association (CMA) is in no way linked to the land. He added that original owners can now apply for documents.

Speaking to the media, the Commissioner said that as per Supreme Court direction only namaz can be performed and children should be allowed to play on the land.

Clarifying his earlier statement that "BBMP said that the property does not belong to it"', he claimed that he had only mentioned that he asked the Wakf Board to produce documents to get the khatha done.

"In 1965, a Wakf Board gazette notification says that 2.5 acres land belongs to Sunni Board. However, from 1965 to 2022 the board did not come forward to claim its right over the land. Even during the revenue department survey in 1974, the board did not stake its claim. Now it is left to the government to decide on absolute ownership. BBMP has the powers only to issue khatha," said the Commissioner adding that there won't be any issue with regard to allowing Bakrid prayer which falls on July 10 this year.

Earlier, the Central Muslim Association had sent documents representing the Wakf Board and stated that the land is a property of Wakf Board and referred to themselves as 'mutavalli' (caretaker) of the Idgah Maidan on behalf of the Wakf Board.

Sarvagna Nagar renaming opposed

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MEMBERS of various resident welfare groups and political parties and residents staged a protest against the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) and the State Government for changing the name of the city's Sarvagna Nagar ward. In the delimitation draft, the BBMP has changed the name and number of the ward.

As per the notification, Sarvagna Nagar (Ward No. 79) is now renamed as New Byapanahalli (Ward No. 119).

In the beginning, the ward was called Cox Town. Twenty years ago it was renamed after noted poet Sarvagna. "In the new delimitation draft, the ward has been renamed again," said N S Ravi, president, Bharathinagar Residents Forum, who staged a protest along with members of Sarvagna Nagar Youth Forum and Kannada Abhimana Sangha.

"We do not want the name of the ward to be changed. The surrounding wards can be given new names. We also do not mind the change in ward number. But the poet's name should not be dropped," said another resident.

30TH June : More on time travel, my theme for the week. I already mentioned the problems it would create for astrologers. However, it also presents an amazing opportunity. After all, smart people would be able to hop between different astrologically auspicious periods, avoiding all the difficult ones!

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Your tough, uncompromising nature is to be stimulated today, yet in a pleasantly practical manner. The only indications of muddle occur around early morning, the middle of the day and the beginning of the evening, but you'll survive any problems unscathed!

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
The Sun is placing pressure on your chart, a clear enough indication that you should take things one at a time. If you're a professional Taurean, then you really must take care of private complications first, before you deal with public obligations.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
You are standing on the brink, pulled between two vital Geminian qualities. You can be terribly logical and discreet, but you also have a tendency to open your mouth and put your foot in it at the slightest excuse. There must surely be a middle way!

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
Partners are bound to raise certain obstacles, but these shouldn't be seen as unwelcome. If partners come up with advice which is at first impression rather upsetting, don't be dismayed, but look for the deeper truth. The real facts might offer reassurance.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
New planetary pressures indicate that money is likely to flow through your fingers like water. However, the situation is quite complex, and new funds will appear to replace those which have disappeared into the ether. As the cosmic law states, what goes round, comes round!

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Think ahead and realise that the prospects of a shock, a surprise, or a complete turnaround at work, are increasing by the hour. It's difficult to be specific, but whatever is about to happen will affect your long-term security, hopefully for the better.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The Moon is in a cautious zone of the zodiac, and I am sure that you will take your responsibilities seriously, but the reckless and self-indulgent consequences of tomorrow's solar battle are already stirring in the more enjoyable regions of your psyche.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
For one who is supposed to be so private, all the current planetary pressures are urging you to live your life in public. Just as soon as you give the word, all the skeletons will come tumbling out of their cupboards. You'd better have a good story prepared!

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Family members are looking over your shoulder - and domestic spending moves up the agenda, but only temporarily. It therefore follows that if property deals, rental agreements or major investments are current, you should move fast to secure a favourable outcome.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You should judge financial matters very carefully, and if you have any doubts about the wisdom of a particular purchase or investment, hold off until after the weekend. You may be feeling slightly vulnerable emotionally, so take the necessary safeguards.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Lunar alignments expose you to exploitation by others, and it may indeed be right for you to perform a few favours. Yet, you would also be justified in being a little selfish and putting up your defences against people who just don't know where to stop.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It has to be said that you can never tell who is going to be useful for you - and who is not. Make a point of socialising today and you might develop some fabulous contacts for the future. Also, take the lead and talk to a partner, rather than allowing them to pretend that there's nothing amiss.

Soon, you must pay ₹250 fine for violating mask rule

Cases go up with Bengaluru reporting 887 positive on Tue

IN A NUTSHELL

4,682
City in second place in the country in active cases

27
Clusters in Bengaluru, and all are in Mahadevapura

In the peak of Covid wave, marshals were deployed to penalise mask violators

SHILPA P @Bengaluru

SOON, Bengalureans will have to shell out Rs 250 for not wearing masks in public places. State Health Commissioner D Randeep has sent a proposal to the additional chief secretary (health), stating that the rule should be in force in BBMP and Bengaluru district limits. It is based on the recommendations of the Covid Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) in view of the increasing number of Covid cases in the city.

Reporting 4,682 cases, Bengaluru jumped from the third place to second in the country in the number of active cases. Mumbai is on top.

The ACS will submit the proposal to the chief secretary. This is because the Union Ministry of Home Affairs has discontinued using the Disaster Management Act for Covid containment measures since March 31, but a committee under the chief secretary has the powers to still use the Act to impose the fines.

On Tuesday, the state reported 968 Covid cases, including 887 from Bengaluru. The number of patients hospitalised is 81, including six in ICU. The state capital has 27 clusters and all of them are in apartments in Mahadevapura zone, where a lot of IT employees live. Of these clusters, 26 have less than five cases. Over the last one week, positive cases have been reported from Bellandur, Kadugodi, Dodda Nekkundi, Varthur, HSR layout, Horamavu, Hagadur, Hudi, Begur and Garudachar Palya wards.

TAC on June 6 recommended to the government to introduce the penalty clause for mask violations in the city within seven days, depending on the number of Covid cases. On June 10, the health department passed an order saying malls, hotels, workplaces and other closed spaces should deny entry to those not wearing masks.

The mandatory masking rule without penalty has been in effect in the state since April 25.

Covid on rise, attendance dips in schools

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

WITH Covid cases slowly on the rise yet again, schools are seeing a dip in attendance with the onset of the monsoon.

Covid clusters reported in schools seem to have played a part in this dip, with Bengaluru schools being especially cautious about students attending classes. "As schools, we are trying to be more cautious, so we send back students that have even a semblance of illness, like runny nose or cold. Parents try to send sick students to school with medication, but we want to stay on the cautious side, so students tend to miss around two to three days," Karnataka Associate Management of Schools general secretary Shashi Kumar said.

He said that a majority of schools in the city had taken such precaution, which could be attributed to the dip in attendance.

Meanwhile, school chains, like Orchid International School, are reporting a dip in attendance of at least 15 per cent on a regular basis. "The teachers are monitoring every student. If a student falls sick, the parents are informed and he/she is sent home. Day by day, students with runny nose and breathing issues are increasing and immediate measures are being taken," Nagaveni Reddy, principal of the school, said.

Sisters, owing money to many, play victim card

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TWO sisters, aged 29 and 33, were allegedly beaten up for delaying returning Rs 11 lakh taken from a woman in the Sarjapura police limits.

The sisters had taken the money from the accused, Indiramma, promising her a high interest rate. After they stopped giving the interest, the accused woman, her husband and son went to the sisters' house demanding the money back. During heated arguments, they exchanged fisticuffs at Nerige village near Doddabommasandra on Sunday.

Both parties went to the Sarjapura police station and filed complaints against each other. But after some time, the sisters' uncle requested the police to sort out the issue as they were at fault. The police had made a mention of it in the station diary.

Indiramma's husband Ramkrishna Reddy and son Sunil Kumar were arrested on Wednesday for allegedly assaulting the sisters.

"The sisters used to approach women in the area assuring them higher interest rates. They have reportedly taken nearly Rs 1 crore. Pressure kept mounting on them to return the money. After they were assaulted, they shot a video of bruises on their body and circulated it to make it look like they were stripped and beaten. The video caused a public uproar and the blame came on the police for not taking up the case on Sunday. But they refused to file a complaint that day. If both parties filed complaints, even the sisters were to be arrested as Indiramma was also assaulted," said an officer.

Bengaluru Rural SP Vamsi Krishna said the police are not at fault and there is enough proof for it.

The sisters' ploy of playing the victim was to scare others from asking money from them, a police officer said.

After the video went viral, senior police officers summoned the sisters to the station and the complaint was registered on Tuesday night. "The accused should not have assaulted the sisters which landed them in trouble," said Lakshmi Ganesh, Additional SP, Bengaluru District Police.

SEARCH FOR MISSING TREKKER INTENSIFIES

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

IT is not just the City police who are searching for city-based doctor and trekker Chandra Mohan Shivnath who went missing during his solo expedition to the Himalayas, but trekker teams and locals have also joined the search operation.

Associations of trekkers are urging the Central government to bring in strict regulations for Himalayan treks, on the lines of Nepal, where it is regulated. They are also demanding that no one should be allowed to go on solo trips and only batches should be permitted.

Shivnath has gone incommunicado since June 20 following which his family registered a complaint at High Grounds Police Station on June 27. The investigating police officials said that he does not have any financial or personal problems, but according to the family, he is a religious person and on earlier occasions too he would switch off his phone during such expeditions, a police officer said.

In the meantime, friends and colleagues of Shivnath have approached various trekking organisations for help in searching him. Sources in trekking companies, who are in touch with the Nepali government said: "Shivnath's last communication was on May 22. He entered Sagarmata National Park on May 20. He was on his way to the Everest base camp. After an SOS message from him on May 22, he has gone missing. He had gone without a guide and help is being taken from locals to trace him."

Naveen Mallesh from Treknomads said that in Nepal, blue and yellow trekker information management cards are given to trekkers. Blue is given to expert guides going solo and yellow is issued to those who go in batches with guides. Shivnath had taken a blue card. It is advisable that trekkers should not go solo, but should go on regulated group tours for safety reasons.

Regulation is necessary more so when trekking to Himalayas has become a sought-after venture for people, especially after the pandemic.

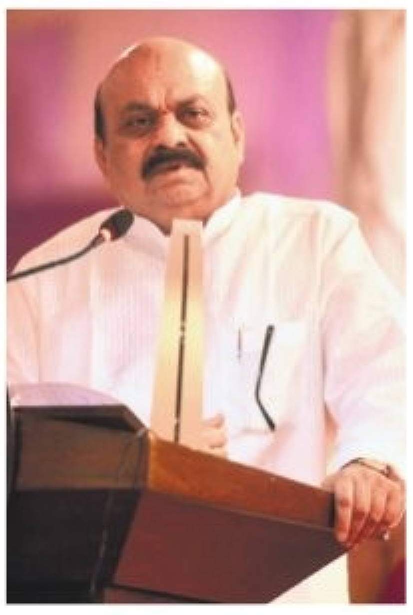
One year on, Bommai yet to appoint chiefs to boards

Pressure high ahead of Assembly polls; Many corpns yet to get funds

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru



BASAVARAJ Bommai will complete one year as chief minister July-end, but the State government is yet to finalise the names for boards and corporations, which have been functioning without chairpersons.

The state has over 70 boards and corporations, for which MLAs from the ruling party are appointed as chiefs. Ahead of the Assembly elections in 2023, the list of aspirants is long and it is not easy for the chief minister to make these appointments. A senior BJP leader, on condition of anonymity, told The New Indian Express that around 50 boards and corporations do not have chairpersons and also these entities have not received sufficient funds.

When BS Yediyurappa became chief minister in 2019, he appointed chairpersons to majority of boards and corporations only in 2020 and some in 2021. But their tenures ended abruptly when he stepped down as chief minister last year. Bommai, since taking over as chief minister, has not appointed any chairpersons. "Many Ministers and MLAs are pressurising Bommai and state BJP president Nalin Kumar Kateel. As the Assembly elections are less than a year away, it is important to keep local leaders on good terms. The Cabinet reshuffle may not happen and the only hope for MLAs is boards and corporations," the leader said.

Over the last year, Bommai has had many challenges, including the bypolls and MLC elections and these are said to be another reason for the delay. In fact, Kateel in January had said chairpersons to boards and corporations would be announced soon. But it has been close to six months and nothing has happened. BJP state General Secretary N Ravikumar said the list is expected to be out in four to five days.

Bommai is likely to retain many chairpersons appointed by Yediyurappa. Asked if the list has to get the approval of the party high command, party sources said unlike the ministers, chiefs to boards and corporations are decided at the state level. "There is pressure on Bommai for cabinet expansion too and that has to be approved by party leaders in Delhi. But there is even higher pressure to appoint chairpersons to boards and corporations as these are decided locally," the sources added.

Rahul holds meetings with Siddu, DKS

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

WITH the Congress party's internal sample survey in Karnataka on 2023 assembly polls reportedly giving some hope for the party to come back to power but with a warning that the internal bickering may cost it dearly, party leader Rahul Gandhi held marathon meetings with KPCC president D K Shivakumar and the Leader of Opposition in Karnataka assembly Siddaramaiah on Tuesday and Wednesday in the national capital.

The meeting comes in the wake of inputs given by Sunil Kanugol, a former colleague of poll strategist Prashant Kishor, who joined AICC in March and was assigned the job of Karnataka's 2023 poll strategist.

Kanugol had got a sample survey of all the 224 assembly constituencies of the state done by an external agency which has given the Congress 110 seats, three short of a simple majority, sources told TNIE.

If the internal squabbles within the party continues, the party may face a drubbing and hence Rahul did not hesitate to call both senior Karnataka Congress leaders whose supporters have been pitching for their leaders, especially Siddarmaiah, to be made the CM face of the party.

AICC general secretaries Randeep Singh Surjewala and K C Venugopal were preset at the meeting for three hours on Tuesday. Kanugol was also present and it was reportedly decided that the party should go to the polls under a collective leadership as announcing a CM candidate may boomerang as it happened in the case of Punjab.

On Wednesday, Rahul held one-on-one meetings with Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar for half-an-hour each at his residence. The details of the meetings were not immediately known.

Apart from Kanugol's survey, Shivakumar has got a survey done on his own which gives a majority to the party and Siddaramaiah is also getting a survey done, sources said. Meanwhile, Siddaramaiah said he has invited Rahul for his 75th birthday celebrations which will be held at Davanagere on August 3.

Rahman Khan defers disciplinary action against Seetharam

BENGALURU: As both Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah and KPCC president DK Shivakumar are in New Delhi, former Union minister K Rahman Khan has deferred taking a decision on issuing a notice to former minister MR Seetharam for holding a meeting with his supporters recently. Sources said Shivakumar will return to Bengaluru only after attending to the summons of the Enforcement Directorate on July 1. "Since the party president is away from the state, I will not take any decision in his absence," Khan told TNIE. Meanwhile, Siddaramaiah, who will return from the national capital on Thursday, is expected to meet Seetharam at his residence to convince him not to decide on his political future in a hurry, the sources added. Siddaramaiah's supporters, including Kolar MLA K Srinivasa Gowda, who was expelled from JDS, former Mulbagal MLA Kothur Manjunath and former Chintamani MLA Dr MC Sudhakar joined Congress in the presence of Rahul in New Delhi on Wednesday. ENS

Ravi's tweet on Zubair and Rahul draws ire

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

BJP National General Secretary CT Ravi, in charge of Goa, Maharashtra and Tamil Nadu, on Wednesday tweeted, "If Zubair is a journalist, then Rahul Gandhi is a nationalist." His tweet drew angry reactions on social media sites as many were indignant that after arresting Zubair on flimsy grounds, BJP is speaking derogatorily of him.

Taking objection to the comment on Rahul, Congress working president Eshwar Khandre said, "Rahul Gandhi's great grandfather Jawaharlal Nehru spent about 3,200 days in prison, Rahul Gandhi's grandmother Indira Gandhi and father Rajiv Gandhi were martyred. What is CT Ravi's contribution let him introspect."

Activist and advocate Vinay Srinivasa said, "Zubair and Alt News have been busting fake news and reporting on hate speech from across the nation. Fact-checking websites are important across the world for democracy to sustain. As citizens we have a right to to the truth and accurate information. Alt News is an organisation devoted to fact checking. To belittle Zubair is to belittle the fight against fake news and hate speech."

Activist Maitreyi Krishnan said, "This is a government that thrives on fake news and hate speech. Zubair's arrest is an attempt to stifle any form of dissent and is an assault on our constitutional values.''

ZUBAIR TO BE BROUGHT TO B'LURU TODAY

25 MPs to strengthen BJP Assembly segments

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

BJP, which already has a formidable party organisation across the state, right up to the grassroots level, is looking at another strategy to strengthen its Assembly constituencies as the state is going to the polls in about eight months.

The party has tasked each of its 25 MPs to make exhaustive notes on Assembly constituencies coming under their jurisdiction and to work towards strengthening them if found weak. The MPs are being roped in as they are relatively free now. Sources said the party is confident of about 100 Assembly segments, but they need to work effectively in the remaining 124 seats. The strategy is to reach out to the last voter and ensure the party's presence in each constituency where MPs would be of help.

The focus areas are Mandya, Bengaluru Rural, Ramanagara, Kolar, Hassan, Mysuru and Chikkaballapuru districts, where the party seeks to make a bigger impact.

Bengaluru Central MP PC Mohan said, "My constituency has five seats and I have to work on the segments that are not represented by our party MLAs. Our organisation is strong at booth levels, even in the segments that do not have our legislators. We are ready for polls anytime. MPs are taking more responsibility where we do not have elected MLAs. Party MLCs too are being roped in."

In Bengaluru Rural, Hassan and Mandya, where the party does not have MPs, party office-bearers, MLCs and others are roped in.

Party General Secretary Ravi Kumar said, "The idea is to involve the MPs in a greater measure and with that the party will benefit.''

Shivamogga MP BY Raghavendra said, "It is an excellent initiative considering the MPs will have time on their hands. The MPs will help strengthen the party in weak Assembly segments.''

Independent Mandya MP Sumalatha Ambareesh, wife of former MPM H Ambareesh said, "Being an independent MP, I do not have any information on this and I can't really comment.''

2 groups face off over Urdu signboard in Bhatkal

SUBHASH CHANDRA N S @Karwar

JUST days after a controversy over use of Devanagari script in signboards in Karwar, another language row has erupted in Uttara Kannada district, this time in Bhatkal town.

After a Urdu signboard appeared on the Town Municipal Corrporation (TMC) office of Bhatkal, Kannada and Hindu activists have locked horns with members of the Muslim community demanding that it be removed, while the latter want the board to remain.

Recently, signboards in Devanagari had angered Kannada activists in Karwar, forcing the municipality to erase them.

The Bhatkal TMC building was renovated and painted recently, and the board was put up in Kannada and Urdu which irked the activists. On Tuesday evening, they staged a protest demanding that the authorities erase the Urdu lettering on the board.

The matter came to a head when the authorities buckled under pressure and decided to erase it. But members of the Muslim community gathered in large numbers and staged a counter protest.

Arguments broke out between the two groups with both making allegations and counter-allegations.

Srikanth Naik, a local activist, said, "This cannot be tolerated. There is no provision to display an Urdu board. The boards in the state can be in Kannada, English and Hindi, not Urdu. If we start giving importance to locally spoken languages then the authorities will have to display boards in Konkani, Marathi, Urdu and even Navayath. Kannada – the prominent language in the state -- will lose its importance."

Countering this, Mista-ul-Haq, member of Jhali TMC, said, "In Karnataka, Kannada should be given first priority. We have done so. Then we have the Urdu board. It is also an Indian language. It has been in use for centuries. Why should it be given step motherly treatment? Moreover, Bhatkal TMC has a history and a special space since colonial times. Urdu has been in use since then. This board in Urdu will remain here."

As the arguments between the two groups continued to rage on, the police intervened before the situation got out of control. Assistant Commissioner Bhatkal Mamatha ordered that status quo be maintained, stating that the matter will be resolved by the Uttara Kannada Deputy Commissioner. When contacted, Mullai Muhilan, Deputy Commissioner, Uttara Kannada, said, "I am going to Bhatkal. I will conduct a meeting tomorrow and resolve the matter."

BUNTS Alias Nadavara Mathr Sangha, an umbrella body of Bunt associations, has taken strong objection to the removal of content of poet Kayyara Kinhanna Rai from the 'Karnataka Unification and Border Disputes' chapter in Class 7 Social Science textbook.

"Kinhanna Rai was not only a poet or writer, but had also contributed immensely to various fields like education and journalism. "If hotels and restaurants are permitted to stay open all night, there will be traffic movement on the city roads, and people will also be moving on the city roads. This would ensure there is less crime. There will also be economic activities. When five-star hotels are permitted to open all night, why are restrictions imposed on other hotels, which are frequented by more people," said the association member. The members also added that they will give all support to the police and ensure that staff is kept on rotation and no women staff are kept at night for security reasons.

Need speaking Prez, not rubber stamp, says Sinha

Opposition presidential candidate Yashwant Sinha meets Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan, in T'puram on Wednesday

IN a veiled attack on NDA's presidential candidate, Draopadi Murmu, presidential candidate of the combined Opposition parties, Yashwant Sinha, opined that the country needs a president who serves as an impartial custodian of Constitution, and not one who acts as a rubber stamp of the Centre. He was speaking at a press meet organised by Kerala Union of Working Journalists. Earlier, he sought support from LDF and UDF legislators and MPs in separate sessions at the Sankaranarayanan Thampi Lounge at the Kerala Assembly.

Recalling that former presidential candidate of the Congress, Pratibha Patil, had filed her nomination papers during 2007 before the returning officer in the presence of the then PM anmohan Singh, Yashwant Sinha claimed that it was PM Narendra Modi who filed the nomination papers for Draupadi Murmu. "This shows the fate that awaits the country. There are people who think that numbers are not in favour of me. Every election is not a numbers game. In my case, it is a developing situation between now and July 18," he said.

Sinha appealed to the legislators from Kerala the need to have a "thinking and speaking" president at Rashtrapati Bhavan.

JDS LIKELY TO SUPPORT NDA CANDIDATE MURMU

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

JANATA Dal (Secular) is likely to support the National Democratic Alliance's candidate for the presidential elections Droupadi Murmu.

JDS leader and former Karnataka chief minister HD Kumaraswamy said that Murmu had spoken to former Prime Minister and party supremo HD Deve Gowda twice over phone. She even wanted to visit Bengaluru to meet Gowda and seek his support, Kumaraswamy added.

"She has already got the support required to win. But despite that she has sought our support which shows her magnanimity," the JDS leader said indicating that the regional party will extend its support to the former Jharkhand Governor in the presidential elections. Kumaraswamy termed Murmu's achievements as an inspiration for others.

"It is not the question of Congress or Bharatiya Janata Party or party politics... JDS should not be called as the BJP's B-team for the decision we have taken with respect to the presidential elections," he added.

The Congress had accused the JDS of having a tacit understanding with the BJP in the 2019 Assembly polls and called it the B-team of the ruling party, a charge rubbished by the JDS.

HC upholds compulsory retirement of judge

ENS @ Bengaluru

IN THE HC

THE Karnataka High Court upheld the compulsory retirement of a civil judge, who was found guilty of signing the order sheets which were prepared by the Bench Clerk in his unauthorised absence the previous day and mentioning the date as the following day.

"Court proceedings are sacrosanct... the petitioner has committed a serious dereliction of his duty," Justice PS Dinesh Kumar said, dismissing the petition filed by Shivanand Laxman Anchi, 39, from Bailhongal in Belagavi District.

Anchi questioned the compulsory retirement arguing that the punishment is grossly disproportionate. The court said no exception can be taken to the quantum of penalty imposed on him.

"Maintenance of a high degree of probity and integrity are the hallmarks of Judges. To record proceedings in the order sheet, which have not actually taken place, is anathema to sacrosanct court proceedings and such conduct cannot be countenanced in the case of a judicial officer/ judge," the court observed.

Based on evidence, the inquiry officer has held the charges against the petitioner as proved.

The petitioner was in-charge civil judge and JMFC, Ponnampet. On June 27, 2019, the Principal District and Sessions Judge, Kodagu, conducted a surprise visit and noticed the petitioner signing the order sheets of the previous day on June 27 and putting the date as June 26, 2019. The petitioner was compulsorily retired on March 22, 2021.

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday rejected the bail plea of Herrera Valenzuela De Lopez, a 35 year old from Guatemala, who argued that charges have not been framed against her for the last 2 years and 3 months as there is no Spanish language translator. She was arrested after cocaine kept in her vagina and rectum was seized on March 2, 2020.

Noting that the long duration in custody is not a ground to free her on bail when there is an offence against society against her, Justice HP Sandesh said it is the duty of the prosecution to make arrangements to appoint a translator to assist the court to frame charges. The trial court should dispose of the matter not later than one year, he ordered.

The court noted that if the petitioner is enlarged on bail, there is a chance of her fleeing from justice and committing similar offences.

The petitioner was arrested under NDPS Act when she arrived from Addis Ababa at Kempegowda International Airport. She was found to be carrying 150 cocaine capsules weighing 1,385.02 gm.

The special counsel argued that bail should be denied to the accused considering the modus operandi in transporting the contraband with an intention to make wrongful gains.

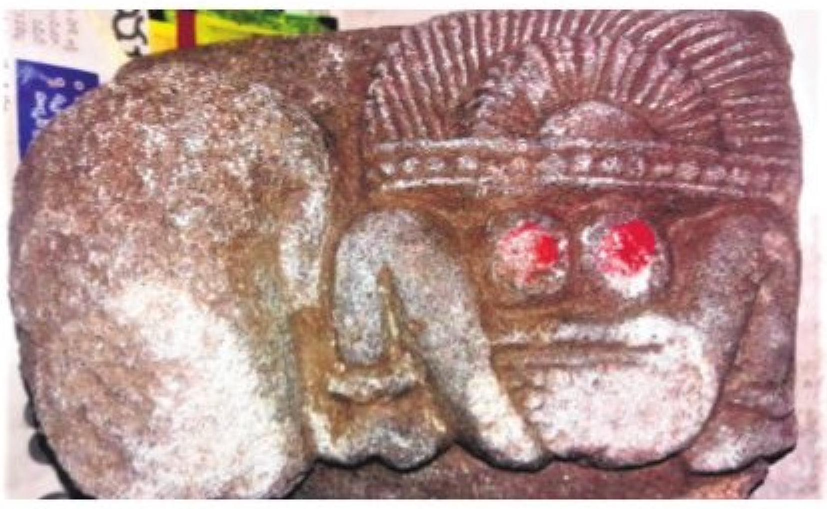
'Lajja Gouri' sculpture from early history found in Telangana's Cheriyal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hyderabad



The sculpture of 'Lajja Gouri' found in Cheriyal of Siddipet district in Telangana

IN a yet another finding that shows the importance given to women centuries ago, a rare sculpture of 'Lajja Gauri,' also known as 'Nagnakabandha, Aditi, Uttanapada' and more commonly as 'Fertility Goddess' was found in the agricultural fields in Cheriyal mandal of Siddipet district by Venkataramanagari, a member of Kotha Telangana Charithra Brundam.

The sculpture proves women were treated as goddesses who symbolised fertility.

While sculptures of Lajja Gouri have been found in various sizes and forms across the country, the particular one could have been carved between the 1st and 6th Centuries AD, according to experts.

The miniature sculpture made of a soft stone (soap stone or limestone) found in Cheriyal is 5 inches tall and 9 inch wide. It has been found at Patigadda, a plain agricultural area spread around 50 acres of land, where a continuation of civilisation from the prehistoric times till the medieval period has been well recorded by historians.

According to KSB Keshava, retired Deputy Director of Museums, AP, sculptures of 'Mother Goddess,' where a woman is depicted standing in nude position with hanging breasts, belly and exposing her vulva have been found across the world, specifically in Iraq, Iran, Mesopotamia and also in India.

"Women have managed the civilisations in every aspect, whether it was guiding the men food collection, preaching religion or taking care of the communities. As wars were fought more often from early history, their importance came down and patriarchal influence grew. However, the 'fertility cult' continued as 'Shakti cult' even after the rise of various other cults in India, whether it was Shaivism or Vaishnavism. In fact it was continued as part of these cults," he told TNIE.

According to Keshava, sculptures of Lajja Gauri were found in Guntur and Prakasam districts of AP, which were from Satavahana era. In Addanki, a sculpture in the shape of a pot, with a thin line on its bottom representing 'Yoni' (vulva) was found. While this one is from 1st Century AD, similar ones were found dating back to 4th and 5th centuries AD. One of Lajja Gouri found in Nagarjunakonda Museum was from the period of Ikshvakus in 3rd Century AD.

On the other side of the Krishna River, in Telangana, he said that such sculptures were found in Kurnool and Alampur areas which were ruled by Badami Chalukyans. He had found such sculpture in Kyathur near Alampur in 1985-86, where there was a flower found on the head of the Lajja Gouri. The flower represented fertility. According to S Haragopal, convener, Kotha Telangana Charithra Brundam, sculptures found in Alampur also had flowers in place of head, which were from the times of Badami Chalukyans, who ruled the region between 5th to 8th Centuries AD.

SENA NEEDS A PLANARIAN'S ART OF SURVIVAL

If the Maharashtra political crisis were to be drawn on a canvas as a work of art, it would probably resemble a Jackson Pollock coming to life in front of our eyes: moving dots and lines and squiggles of varied colours, clustering in one location, then dissolving and regrouping elsewhere, ad infinitum. A live abstraction whose meaning may be equally difficult to decipher for the untrained and the expert eye. But in the hurly-burly of the real world, there exist places like Dadar and Thane, and Goa, Gujarat and Guwahati—not to mention Chowpatti, as the voluble Sanjay Raut of the rump Shiv Sena reminds us.

In terms of realpolitik, some baselines are clear enough. Uddhav Thackeray may have exhibited some genuine courage in trying to take the Shiv Sena legacy into uncharted waters, but he was riding on inherited legitimacy. He had neither created for himself the aura of an Übermensch like his father, the redoubtable Bal Thackeray, against whose word not just party faithful but even the ordinary Mumbaikar would not dare to budge nor had he worked anew in the field to set up his own networks of loyalty at the grassroots.

The Shiv Sena, born in 1966 as a disruptive-subversive force, is itself facing a near-unstoppable moment of disruption and subversion. It has performed three substantial roles during its life in Maharashtrian (and Indian) politics. One was when it was advanced as a cat's paw by Indira Gandhi to break the Left's labour strongholds in the industrial Bombay of the Seventies. Two, by blending this with the raw, nativist idiom of its invention that is now all over India. This called on the old Maratha pride and took the state away from its cosmopolitan, trade-based history of the last two-three centuries. Third, when it merged the above with the saffron politics of the BJP. As India's constitutional system resolves its own legal quagmires—about the Fifty-second Amendment aka the Anti-Defection Law, about the role of the Governor and the Speaker et al.—that third part seems in danger of having devoured the whole.

TOUGH FOR STATES TO BAN ONLINE GAMES

A spate of suicides by youngsters addicted to online gaming has brought the focus back on the difference between skill-based and chance-based games. While the latter are mostly banned, skill-based online games have continued to thrive in India, driving gamers into a web of debt and subsequently, suicide. Efforts by state governments to outlaw online gaming with stakes have not found success so far. Early this year, a move by the Karnataka government was blocked by the High Court by striking down certain provisions of the Karnataka Police (Amendment) Act 2021. Karnataka's argument that games of skill having a risk of players losing money should also be banned did not pass judicial muster. A similar move by the Tamil Nadu government was rejected by the Madras High Court, in August 2021. Though the government filed an appeal in the apex court within months, it is yet to come up for hearing. In 2020, the Rajasthan High Court held that an online game that banks on the skill and knowledge of the participant cannot be banned. It was subsequently upheld by the Supreme Court. In their separate verdicts, High Courts of Rajasthan, Punjab, Haryana, and Bombay have recognised fantasy sports as games of skill and a legitimate business activity protected under the Constitution of India.

Most arguments for allowing online games of skills refer to a five-decade-old order by the apex court. In 1967, it held in the State of Andhra Pradesh vs K Satyanarayana that rummy and bridge are not games entirely of chance, but of skill, unlike many other games in which cards are shuffled and distributed.

Recently, the TN government has made one more effort to end the menace of online gaming with stakes, by setting up a panel headed by Justice K Chandru. It has recommended promulgating an ordinance to ban certain online games and regulate some others. The committee has also recommended that the government must insist on New Delhi enacting a national-level law under Article 252 of the Constitution. A ban may be the only way forward since it is impossible to regulate online companies, but this will surely lead to a barrage of legal challenges.

Whenever the Centre came up with anti-people policies, there were protests from the affected sections. But there was none to coalesce them for a collective counter programme

FIGHT TOGETHER TO STEM EROSION OF DEMOCRACY

SOUMYADIP SINHA

G S VASU

Editor of The New Indian Express

To say that we are staring down the barrel is, perhaps, an understatement. The worst that some among us feared is beginning to come true. Looking through the prism of individuals for easy understanding, the Nupur Sharma episode, followed by the undemocratic arrest of journalist Mohammed Zubair and then the Udaipur shocker have shown the disastrous consequences of unending hate mongering that we have been witness to over the recent years. However, to look at it without placing it in the overall context is not going to help us understand where we are and how we got there.

Many of us often wonder how the BJP's electoral juggernaut moves on despite not getting most things right. The disbelief is not without basis but stems from a superficial thought process. Yes, we first didn't understand demonetisation, which was hailed by those holding a brief for the government. That it turned out to be a disaster, contrary to the way it was sold as a financial revolution and a move to check black money, is another matter. These days, we don't even bother to check by how many times the riches of India's rich have gone up in Swiss banks. Muslims hadn't understood CAA and were promptly called anti-nationals. Farmers, who didn't understand farm laws, were bracketed in a similar fashion. Small traders, who were pushed out of business because of GST, have not understood it like Muslims and farmers. And now, the millions of the country's unemployed do not understand how revolutionary Agnipath is.

From a larger perspective, we are witness to how the veneer of the democratic fabric is being peeled off, layer by layer. This is nothing to be shocked at. This is not the first time that the media and judiciary capitulated. They did it during Emergency after which a mutually comfortable arrangement worked well for years. But there comes a stage when the forces that seek to change the status of a society have to bare their fangs. What we have been seeing in the last few years is exactly that, with Prime Minister Narendra Modi, former US President Donald Trump and so on being representatives of the order that such forces seek to establish.

Our honourable judges often pontificate about the need for citizens to work tirelessly to sustain liberty, freedom and expression. It may make for good media copy, but right under the nose of the courts and by using observations made in judgments, we are witness to arrests without adherence to any due procedure. That it's their job first to protect liberty and freedom doesn't seem to be on the agenda of our courts. Our frontline media channels have mainstreamed hate to unimaginable levels and yet, wine and dine with the high and mighty without remorse while journalists doing ground work and holding up the mirror to power are behind the cells. The kind of data suppression we have seen during the worst phase of Covid has no parallel but those calling it out are dubbed agents of foreign agencies or anti-nationals. We have no time to discuss how India's public health system hasn't improved a wee bit despite the crisis we saw during Covid. We have no time to debate how millions of gig workers suffer from lack of minimum social security. We are not interested in ensuring basic facilities to millions of construction workers (otherwise called migrants) even as we boast of growing skyscrapers, giving a touch of Manhattan to our cities. Governments and banks are the first to reach out to corporates to protect them from any financial crisis, much of it caused by their malfeasance. That 90% of the country's population has to contend with a crisis month after month has no bearing on us.

> Many of us often wonder how the BJP's electoral juggernaut moves on despite not getting most things right. The disbelief is not without basis but stems from a superficial thought process

To borrow from No is not enough, authored by Naomi Klein, an acclaimed journalist, the expanding power of private wealth over the political system, which could be broadly classified as corporate hegemony, dismantling the welfare state and social services, and attacks on women and minorities from exercising their rights, all form part of this agenda. Only money and power matter. CEOs are hailed as superheroes and bypassing law and regulatory standards become the norm.

If anyone is wondering why unemployment, healthcare or peace don't matter, it's because they are managed by a political class that provides the necessary political conditions with its divide-and-conquer politics. The electoral dividends of the BJP are a result of years of indoctrination of various sections of the society, including Dalits and tribals, by projecting Muslims as the other. Such indoctrination pushes people in general into a situation where they don't know what their interests are. Growing violence over religious beliefs or a financial crisis, the conditions for both being ripe, provide a pretext for further clampdown and furthering the agenda of corporate hegemony.

To think that the Opposition or regional parties have a different policy framework is a delusion. The Congress has long forgotten that it has a job to do as the main Opposition, rather a more important one than the ones in the government. In the last seven years, the only occasion that spurred Congress workers into action was when Madam Gandhi and Rahul had to face the ED. We have state governments, ruled by regional parties, which are no less undemocratic and are okay to doing business with the BJP to protect their own turf. Many of them are no different when it comes to policies and are more than willing to bend over backwards to enable corporate groups exploit natural resources at the cost of the local population.

On all the occasions that the government came up with anti-people policies, the country saw protests from the affected sections. But there was none to coalesce them for a collective counter programme. That explains the failure to pose any serious challenge. Therefore, the answer, as Naomi says, is not saying NO to an individual or a group or Yes to another. And, there is no one-stop solution to the crisis we face today. The beginning perhaps lies in a collective challenge to the system that nurtures the nexus that creates conditions for an undemocratic state.

To my right-wing friends who enjoy writing hate mails to me, this is my signing-off piece.

AGNIVEER INTAKE INTO CPFs BENEFITS BOTH

K V MADHUSUDHANAN

Former Inspector General (IG) of the North-Eastern Sector of the CRPF

Consequent to violent protests across the country against implementation of the Agnipath scheme of recruitment to the three armed forces, the government has announced a slew of relaxations and concessions before making it clear that there is no question of backtracking from the proposal, which is now in the process of implementation.

One such lure is the announcement that 10% of the vacancies in the Central Police Forces (CPF)—like the CRPF, the BSF, the CISF, the ITBP, etc.—will be earmarked for released Agniveers. The government expects other departments of the Indian government and state governments to follow suit. Some of the giants in the private sector have also declared their preference to hire released soldiers.

Whether doing away with the caste, creed and region-based regiments that have succeeded for more than 300 years is a debatable issue. So is the assumption that a younger force alone will add to the combat effectiveness of a battalion. There is a claim that a mix of youth and experience would only enhance operational achievements.

There are reasons to believe that sufficient homework has not been done before going ahead with such a vital change in the induction policy. At least public opinion mobilisation has been lacking as in the case of now held-in-abeyance reforms in the farming sector. If the public outcry and sentiments are any indication, the stakeholders have not been taken into confidence. So much for Jai Kisan Jai Jawan.

Now coming to 10% allocation of vacancies in various CPFs, it is not a problematic issue at all. The annual combined vacancies in these forces are in the range of 30,000 when there is no new raising of battalions.

Put together, the CPFs are almost at par with the Indian Army so far as strength of manpower is concerned. As such, a substantial number of Agniveers can be absorbed and such inductions will be salutary to the professional ethos of these forces.

> There are reasons to believe that sufficient homework was not done. But the 10% allocation of vacancies in various Central Police Forces for Agniveers is not a problematic issue at all. Forces like the CRPF, BSF and CISF will stand to benefit as Agniveers would bring in skills and experience that would enrich the work culture and fine tradition

The CPFs will stand to benefit as these personnel would bring in skills and experience that would enrich the work culture and fine tradition of these forces. Personnel of the CPFs take pride in calling themselves 'faujis', though their nomenclature may contain the word 'police', and the top command is still with the Indian Police Service.

In fact, in the 1970s and 1980s, a large number of released emergency commissioned officers and short service commissioned officers of the Indian Army did yeoman service to the CPFs, especially in the CRPF and the BSF, in nearly 70% of higher-middle command vested in them, and these officers gave excellent account of themselves. Similarly, a large number of other ranks inducted from the Army did so well, especially in the field of training.

So, absorption of Agniveers will only complement the operational efficiency and the training needs for the CPFs. These absorbed Agniveers—with their tough training and exposure to hard duties—will definitely be an asset to the CPFs, adding to their versatility. The number of intakes being substantial, it will be able to absorb a major chunk of such released personnel even during normal times.

In case of expansion of the CPFs, which happens often because of the ever-increasing demand for these forces, the intake would enhance further to the benefit of both released Agniveers and the receiving organisations.

Don't touch education

The news report Gujarat college principal asks students to join BJP, resigns following furore (June 28) is shocking. Teachers may have their own political affiliations. But they should not ask students to join certain parties. One wonders where our democracy is moving. Campuses should not be made breeding places for various political parties.

Dr M Haneef, Kottayam

Misusing the law

After the SC upheld the clean chit given to the then Gujarat CM in the 2002 riots case and criticised activists for having ulterior motives and suggested action against them, the Gujarat police arrested Teesta Setalvad and ex-DGP Sreekumar. The whole episode is a glaring example of how attempts to misuse legal proceedings can boomerang against the culprits eventually.

B Veerakumaran Thampi, Thiruvananthapuram

Need strong punishment

Two Udaipur youths brutally murdered a tailor who supported Nupur Sharma and even celebrated it on video. This is highly condemnable and investigators must find out if they acted independently or were backed by inimical elements. The reaction of most political parties has not pointed out the actual problem with the beheading. I hope that justice is delivered by giving them capital punishment.

K R Jayaprakash Rao, Mysuru

People want answers

I think it is very odd that the Kerala CM has not slapped his accusers with defamation cases after they alleged that he was part of the gold smuggling case. Instead, he outshouts the Opposition to silence them. It is not enough for him to gloat that people have given him a second mandate. People need answers and have a right to know the truth.

Elizabeth Koshy, Pathanamthitta

Questioning Teesta

This is with reference to your editorial Teesta arrest keeps the Godhra pot boiling (June 29). When the then Gujarat chief minister Narendra Modi was subjected to investigation by the SIT, Teesta Setalvad should also be interrogated. This will help our investigative agencies too. All are equal before law. Is Teesta more equal than others?

Venkat Desikan, Chennai

Centre's duplicity

This is with reference to the arrest of Mohammed Zubair, the co-founder of Alt News, after his tweet from 2018 was discovered—he was arrested for 'derogatory comments'. This was the same person who recently shared a video of Nupur Sharma passing comments against the Prophet, embarrassing India on the global stage. Was Zubair's arrest on Monday an act of revenge for posting Sharma's video? The duplicity is glaring.

Dr George Jacob, Kochi

Psychiatrists in PHCs

This is with reference to your editorial Towards better mental health infra (June 29). It is quite alarming to learn that India has only 0.3% mental health professionals per one lakh population. In rural areas, people often succumb to obscure practices like sorcery and witchcraft to cure mental health issues. But the situation in the urban areas is not wonderful either—educated people avoid getting help due to the societal stigma attached to it. This editorial is indeed an eye-opener; the government must appoint psychiatrists right at the Primary Health Centre (PHC) level to combat the increase in mental health patients.

G Nataraja Perumal, Tenkasi

A false equivalence

This is with reference to the opinion article Don't reopen past wounds, time to think of present (June 27). The author is trying to justify the destruction of temples by invaders by stating that it was the norm during the medieval period. While there are numerous examples of invaders destroying temples, there are almost no examples of Hindu kings destroying places of worship. Please don't try to create a false equivalence.

Duggaraju Srinivasa Rao, Vijayawada

A true intellectual

The article by Kapil Sibal shows that he is not only an able advocate but also a wise man. He is often criticised as a politician with no ground support but one who has always held high positions because of the goodwill from the 'family' while in the Congress. This article demonstrates his profundity of thought. He has shown how the other countries have successfully adopted the 'forget-and-forgive' policy and avoided the danger of getting mired in the past. The Congress should not have lost this gentleman lawyer. We in India do need an intellect of this kind.

SUPREME SETBACK FLOORS THACKERAY GOVT

Heavens won't fall if the floor test does not happen in the Maharashtra Assembly today, Team Uddhav Thackeray argued in the Supreme Court on Wednesday. The court, of course, thought otherwise. And the heavens didn't fall, but the Thackeray govt did, although not on the floor of the House

Can the Governor call for immediate floor test?

Before the big shake-up, Team Thackeray's contention before the apex court was that floor test cannot happen when the Speaker is yet to decide on disqualification of 16 rebel MLAs. So, what is the legal position on this? Well, several previous rulings say the Governor is well within his right to direct immediate floor test even if a plea for disqualification of MLAs is pending.

Shivraj Singh Chouhan & Others vs Speaker, Madhya Pradesh Legislative Assembly & Others, 2020

- A Bench of Justice D Y Chandrachud and Hemant Gupta ruled that the floor test need not be deferred because the Speaker had not taken a decision on the disqualification of members of Assembly as per 10th Schedule of the Constitution, which is designed to prevent political defections prompted by the lure of office or material benefits or other like considerations

- The holding of trust vote "operates in a distinct field" from anti-defection law, the court said. "Holding a trust vote is necessary to ascertain whether the Council of Ministers headed by the Chief Minister has the confidence of the House... It is a matter which can brook no delay since the authority of the government presided over by the Chief Minister depends on the Council of Ministers continuing to have the faith of the legislative body as a collective entity," the court ruled

Shiv Sena & Others vs Union of India & Others, 2019

- A bench of Justice N V Ramana and Justices Ashok Bhushan and Sanjiv Khanna held that the Governor can direct the floor test immediately to prevent horse-trading and to protect democratic values

- "In a situation wherein, if the floor test is delayed, there is a possibility of horse-trading, it becomes incumbent upon the court to act to protect democratic values. An immediate floor test, in such a case, might be the most effective mechanism to do so," the bench said

EXPRESS ILLUSTRATION

S R Bommai vs Union of India, 1994

The landmark verdict by a nine-judge Constitution Bench said the Chief Minister's refusal to face a floor test can be concluded as lack of majority and such refusal, prima facie, would indicate that the government does not enjoy the confidence of the legislature.

Can the Guv direct floor test without the aid and advice of the Council of Ministers?

Another grouse of Team Thackeray was that the Governor called for the floor test without even consulting the government. On this, too, there's a previous SC ruling that says the Governor can very much do that if he is convinced that the government has lost the majority

Nabam Rebia & Bamang Felix vs Deputy Speaker, Arunachal Legislative Assembly, 2016

Justice J S Khehar held that the Governor can exercise his/ her constitutional powers, vested under Article 174, and call for floor test without the aid and advice of the Council of Ministers led by the Chief Minister if there are sufficient reasons to believe that the government has lost the confidence of the House

INDIA has exported 1.8 million tonnes of wheat to countries like Afghanistan, Myanmar, Sudan and Yemen in the past two months.

Several nations across the globe have been hit by severe food crisis following the protracted Ukraine conflict.

"India has been providing financial assistance as well as supplying food grains to countries which are impacted by the Ukraine conflict. We have exported 1.8 million tonnes of wheat to countries in need including Afghanistan, Myanmar, Sudan and Yemen in the past two months. We are also helping our neighbour Sri Lanka in ensuring their food security," said R Ravindra, Deputy Permanent Representative of India to the UN. He was speaking at a UN Security Council briefing on Ukriane.

Voicing concern over reports of civilian deaths in the ongoing Ukraine conflict, India said that civilian infrastructure in urban areas have become easy targets in armed conflict.

"India remains deeply concerned over the situation in Ukraine. Reports of deaths of civilians in the ongoing Russia-Ukraine conflict are deeply disturbing and in this regard, we express our grave concern. Critical civilian infrastructure in urban areas have become easy targets in situations of conflict," Ravindra said.

The diplomat further reiterated the importance of the UN guiding principles of humanitarian assistance.

After fielding a candidate from tribal community for the Presidential election, the numerically-strong BJP-led NDA may field the V-P candidate considering the social equations. There is a buzz that the part may give a second term to Venkaiah Naidu as part of 'Mission South'. A highly reliable source in the BJP said the name of Kerala Governor Arif Muhmmad Khan is racing ahead in the list of probables.

"If we have ensured the representation of ST ,why should not a minority be given representation?" said a BJP leader. Amid all these speculations, there is a buzz that the party may field a leader belonging to the Maratha region. Another name doing the rounds is Mukhtar Abbas Naqvi, if he doesn't replace the present LG of J&K as is being rumoured.

The vice-president is elected by the members of the electoral college consisting the members of both houses of Parliament by the system of proportional representation using the single transferable vote.

The electoral college comprises a total of 788 members - 233 elected members of Rajya Sabha, 12 nominated members of Rajya Sabha and 543 elected members of Lok Sabha.

As per Article 68 of the Constitution of India, an election to fill the vacancy caused by the expiration of the term of office of the outgoing Vice-President is required to be completed before the expiry of the term.

The Commission said that political parties cannot issue any whip to their MPs in the matter of voting in the vice-presidential election.

Sinha to meet KCR after TRS lends support

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

DAYS after the Telangana Rashtra Samithi (TRS) lent support to his candidature for the Presidential race as the Opposition nominee, former Union minister Yashwant Sinha on Wednesday said he would visit Telangana on July 18 as part of his campaign. Sinha will meet Chief Minister K Chandrashekar Rao (KCR). The visit assumes significance in the backdrop of KCR's bid to gain foothold in national politics.

Though TRS has always been 'equidistant' from both BJP and Congress, the party has sided with the Modi government on several occasions. It had backed the NDA in the 2017 Presidential elections.

Ahead of the assembly polls in 2023, TRS perceives the BJP as its principal opponent as the latter has been expanding its footprints in the state. This justifies the party's backing of Sinha. Party sources told this newspaper that Sinha's visit to the state could be seen as a sign of thaw between TRS and other opposition parties.

An Opposition leader on the condition of anonymity told this newspaper that TRS had no other option than to support the opposition candidate, as the BJP reached its doors.

Emergency use nod for India's 1st mRNA vax

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

PUNE-based Gennova Biopharmaceuticals, a subsidiary of Emcure Pharmaceuticals, whose mRNA Covid-19 vaccine GEMCOVAC-19 got the nod from the Drug Controller General of India (DCGI), said they are working on a booster dose that would be effective against the Omicron variant also.

The DCGI on Tuesday granted Emergency Use Authorization (EUA) to GEMCOVAC-19, which is India's first indigenously developed mRNA vaccine. It is only the third mRNA vaccine approved for Covid-19 in the world.

Gennova Chief Operating Officer Samit Mehta said the clinical trial protocol for the booster shot had been submitted using the Omicron variant. "We have made minor tweaks in the current formulation, and we have already submitted that protocol for clinical trials for boosters," he said.

The company said they aim to produce around 4-5 million doses per month, and this capacity can be doubled. On the plans for the roll-out of the vaccine, Mehta said, "It depends upon what stand the government takes whether they would like to procure and then deploy or they would prefer it if we are ones to reach out to the private market. Discussions are underway."

Mehta said the extensive trials saw minor side effects. "We injected our product in at least 4,000 healthy volunteers, and we haven't noticed events like myocarditis or any other cardiac issues among the trial volunteers. Though adverse events have been reported in other mRNA vaccines, we didn't witness anything like that in our trials."

Agnipath: Differences among senior Cong netas

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

DIFFERENCES have cropped up within the Congress over Centre's Agnipath scheme with party MPs Manish Tewari and Jairam Ramesh sparring over the issue on Wednesday.

The contradictory stands by party leaders on the issue is the latest amid the heartburn caused by some recent appointments, especially in the communication and social media departments in the grand old party. In a media article, Congress Lok Sabha MP Manish Tewari batted for Agnipath scheme launched by the Modi government, saying it must be contextualised in the backdrop of the larger canvas of defence reforms that include the appointment of a Chief of Defence Staff and a reorganisation of the armed forces into theatre commands.

The Congress, however, distanced itself from the spat between two of its senior leaders, and said it firmly believed that the new military recruitment initiative was "anti-national security and anti-youth".

"The future of warfare entails a lighter human footprint, but soldiers equipped with state-of-the-art weaponry, supported by cutting-edge technology to fight a war in a highly informationised environment," Tewari wrote.

'Could have avoided towing opposite line'

Party general secretary Jairam Ramesh responded saying Tewari's views are entirely his own and not of the party. Tewari replied that the tagline of his article does say – "the views are personal". A senior party leader said that Tewari can have his independent views but towing a completely different line from the party's official stand could have been avoided

BJP's southern sojourn won't bear fruits: D Raja

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

AS the BJP is commencing its national executive meeting in Hyderabad, in a bid to intensify its 'Mission South', Communist Party of India (CPI) general secretary D Raja on Wednesday claimed that the saffron camp's efforts would not bear fruits in the South.

"The BJP has tried many times the 'Mission South' but had always failed. What is this mission? The communal and authoritarian ideology of the BJP-RSS is threatening the secular democratic foundation of this country and the people are getting ready to give a befitting reply to it," he said.

Speaking about the possible political scenario during the 2024 LS election, Raja said, "Changes have started taking place across the country against the BJP, which has put the democracy and the Constitution in peril".

The veteran Communist leader also brushed aside the BJP's claim that "there is no leadership in the Opposition to lead the nation". "We don't want a certificate from Modi and Amit Shah about leadership in other parties."

He said the Opposition unity being shown for the Presidential election should continue.

BJP, Cong spar over Udaipur killing

The killing of Kanhaiyalal has sparked hurling of accusations between political parties. BJP spokesperson Rajyavardhan Singh Rathore slammed CM Ashok Gehlot, saying the recent killing was not an isolated incident but a marked continuation of a series of crimes linked to religious bigotry. Congress' Pawan Khera hit back saying the Gehlot government is aware of its 'raj dharma'.

CM Ashok Gehlot calls all-party meeting to discuss law and order

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Jaipur/ Lucknow/ Bhopal

RAJASTHAN Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot called an all-party meeting in Jaipur to discuss the law and order situation after a tailor, Kanhaiyalal, was killed in Udaipur for supporting former BJP spokesperson Nupur Sharma.

Tension prevailed in Udaipur but no major incident took place. Mobile internet services remained suspended on Wednesday and Section 144 was imposed in the state. The suspension of internet has been extended for a day in seven districts of Jaipur division.

Kanhaiyalal was cremated amid tight security in Udaipur on Wednesday. A huge crowd gathered for his last journey despite the curfew. Earlier, when his body was taken home after the post-mortem, his wife Jashoda Sahu said Kanhaiyalal was worried for many days but did not tell her anything,

The killing has evoked widespread condemnation. Terming it an "act of terror," AIMIM's Asaduddin Owaisi has demanded the Congress government to initiate strictest action against the accused. "Violence cannot be justified as means of dissent and protest, we condemn violence," Owaisi said in Bhopal on Wednesday, while demanding Nupur Sharma's arrest.

Meanwhile, in Bheem town of Rajasmand where both culprits were caught, Hindutva bodies held a protest that turned violent. A constable was injured when an agitator attacked him with a sword.

Fears of social tension have gripped other parts of the country too. Uttar Pradesh was put on high alert, with the DGP directing the district police chiefs to increase foot patrolling. The All India Muslim Personal Law Board and clerics, including Maulana Khalid Rasheed Farangi Mahali of India Islamic Centre, and Maulana Tauquir Raza of Ittehad-e- Millat Council, have condemned the killing.

Rebel MLAs move to Goa, 72 rooms booked in 5-star hotel

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR AND PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Belagavi/Guwahati

EVEN as the battle for the Maharashtra throne was on in the Supreme Court, the rebel Shiv Sena MLAs, who had been camping in Guwahai's Radisson Blu Hotel for past eight days, checked out around 5 pm. Wearing traditional Assamese gamosas and carrying packets of Assam tea, they all headed to the Lokpriya Gopinath Bordoloi International Airport in five luxury buses. Around 7 pm, a chartered SpiceJet flight carrying all the rebel MLAs took off and landed at Goa's Dabolim airport 9.45 pm. By then, the fate of the Uddhav Thackeray government had been sealed.

There will be no need for a floor test on Thursday, but the MLAs headed to Taj Resort and Convention Centre, located about 30 km from the airport at Dona Paula near Panaji in special buses to spend the night at the five-star property. At least 72 rooms had been booked for the rebel MLAs and their associates at the luxury vertical resort. A heavy police deployment has been made in and around its vicinity.

After hopping from one BJP state to another, the rebels are likely to head to Mumbai on Thursday.

According to sources in Goa, stringent security measures were put in place along the Goa-Maharashtra border to prevent a possible entry of the supporters of Shiv Sena, NCP or Congress into Goa.

Earlier in the day, the MLAs led by Eknath Shinde visited the Kamakhya temple before leaving Guwahati. Shinde reiterated that he had the support of 49 MLAs. "In a democracy, majority is important. We have the majority. The public is with us," he told media.

Assam minister Pijush Hazarika accompanied the MLAs to "assist" them as a representative of the state government.

Assam CM Himanta Biswa Sarma said the MLAs individually settled their hotel bills.

At the Guwahati airport, Shinde said they are not rebels but Shiv Sainiks. "We are taking forward the agenda and ideology of Balasaheb's Shiv Sena," he said.

Why was Cong state media chief ousted?

Ahmedabad-based Congress leader Rohan Gupta, who is party social media and digital platforms chairperson, was recently removed from the post owing to his purported relationship with a BJP leader. Gupta's wife and brother had been partners in a limited liability firm whose promoter Ajay Patel is a confidant of Union Home Minister Amit Shah. In 2018, Ajay Patel lodged a defamation case against Rahul Gandhi, while claiming that his wife and brother had resigned from the firm. Some Gujarat Congress leaders also posted proof of the Gupta's ties – and demanded action from the High Command. This resentment within the party could hurt the Congress in the state Assembly poll.

Congress displeased with Raghu Sharma

Gujarat Congress in-charge Raghu Sharma has been a topic for discussion more so because of his statements than his work. While former Congress leader Hardik Patel stood opposed to his recurring remark on Congress' failures, now more senior leaders are upset with his statement. Not long ago, Raghu Sharma had quipped that leaders are in queue to leave the Congress, and said, "Two people would go this month, two more people will go next month. BJP wants to buy MLAs and spoil the atmosphere of Congress." But the remark that attracted the most ire was when Raghu Sharma said, "We know only those who cannot win are leaving the Congress. In a way, BJP is collecting garbage from Congress."

Entry of 4 AIMIM MLAs props RJD as single largest party

RAMASHANKAR @Patna

THE Rashtriya Janata Dal (RJD), the main opposition party in Bihar, received a shot in the arm on Wednesday when four MLAs of Asaduddin Owaisi₹s AIMIM joined the party.

With the entry of Shahnawaz Alam from Jokihat, Izhar Asfi from Kochadhaman, Anzar Nayeemi from Bahadurganj, and Syed Ruknuddin Ahmed from Baiasi, RJD's strength has gone up to 80, making it the largest party. The BJP (77) is next, while the Janata Dal-United (JD-U), with 45 MLAs, is at distant third position.

All the four MLAs were elected to the Assembly from the Muslim-dominated Seemanchal region of the state, leaving RJD stunned. The victory of five AIMIM MLASs in the last Assembly election had come as a surprise for many political observers.

Now, Owaisi's party is left with only one MLA — Akhtarul Imam — who is also the state party president. The leader of Opposition, Tejashwi Yadav, drove the legislators to the state Assembly and met speaker Vijay Kumar Sinha to complete the formalities.

Tejashwi told mediapersons that RJD has always had a special affection for Seemanchal, and now the party has regained a strong presence in the region.

Imam said the four MLAs who quit AIMIM not only cheated the party but also the poor people of Seemanchal. Equating them with Mir Jafar, he said, "RJD would have to pay a heavy price for weaning his party₹s MLAs as people of Seemanchal are deeply hurt by such an act."

On the other hand, the former AIMIM MLAs defended their decision to join RJD, saying, "Since RJD is the largest secular party in the state, we want to strengthen it and work for the betterment of Seemanchal."

After re-emerging as the single largest party, RJD will have a psychological edge over the ruling NDA at a time when BJP and JD-U are engaged in a war of supremacy. In such a situation, it is speculated that a political realignment could brew in the state.

Amarnath Yatra starts amid heavy security in Valley

2 killed in encounter

Two Lashkar militants were killed in an encounter near the yatra route on Wednesday. The encounter took place at the Nawpora area of Mir Bazar in south Kashmir's Kulgam district. According to the IGP Kashmir, the encounter site was very close to the Amarnath Yatra route.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Srinagar

AFTER gap of three years, the 43-day Amarnath Yatra to the cave shrine in Himalayas will commence on Thursday from Kashmir amid tight security measures.

The authorities have put in place several arrangements for the peaceful and smooth conduct of the yatra on both the routes — the 48km traditional Pahalgam route and the 14km shortest Baltal route to the pilgrimage site located at a height of 3,880m.

Lt Governor Manoj Sinha on Wednesday flagged off the first batch of 4,890 pilgrims from the Jammu base camp amid chanting of Vedic mantras. The pilgrims began their journey at around 4 am from the Bhagwati Nagar base camp in a cavalcade of 176 light and heavy vehicles. Continue GST compensation for 5 years, Ch'garh asks Centre

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

Congress-ruled Chhattisgarh has expressed an apprehension of a huge revenue loss to be faced by the mining and manufacturing states and demanded that the provision for 14 percent protected revenue, which will cease from June 30 this year, should continue for another five years.

Sharing the data with Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman in his letter about loss of revenue suffered over the past four years, Chhattisgarh Commercial Taxes Minister T S Singhdeo said "ending the provision will lead to heavy loss of revenue for the state. If the protective revenue provision is not continued then the 50 percent formula for CGST and SGST should be changed to SGST 80-70 percent and CGST 20-30 percent."

Singhdeo, who tested Covid positive a few days ago, couldn't attend the GST Council meet and urged the finance minister to put forth the suggestions stated in his letter.

"Unless the GST Council members ensure financial stability through national revenue realisation for each state, the concept for which the Council was set up may appear to be untenable," he said.

AIMIM fighting local body polls in 7 MP districts

ANURAAG SINGH @Bhopal

AFTER having won a Lok Sabha seat and two Assembly seats in Maharashtra and five Vidhan Sabha seats in Bihar, the Asaduddin Owaisi-led AIMIM is now eyeing to emerge as a third force in the BJP-ruled Madhya Pradesh.

The party is contesting the urban local body polls in seven districts of MP and harbours plans of contesting the Vidhan Sabha polls in 2023-end.

"We're making our electoral debut in MP politics with the urban local body polls," Owaisi said here on Wednesday.

The urban local body polls are scheduled in two phases, on July 6 and July 13.

"We'll make all efforts to contest the 2023 Assembly polls," Owaisi added.

No hospital bed available, ex-MLA lies on floor

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

FORMER CPI-M MLA Dibakar Hansda was admitted to a state-run district hospital on the condition that he would have to lie on the floor, his family has said. Hansda's family members alleged that he was not even given a mattress, and they had to buy a plastic sheet and spread it on the floor for him.

Hansda posted his plight on social media. He said he underwent almost 28 hours of torment, before he was given a bed. Hansda was admitted to the hospital for gall bladder surgery.

Hansda was one of the CPI-M MLAs who won in the 2011 Assembly elections when many heavyweights of the party, including former chief minister Budhhadeb Bhattacharjee, were defeated by the strong anti-incumbency wave spearheaded by present Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee. Hansda served as an elected representative in the backward region between 2011 and 2016.

The former MLA arrived at the Midnapore Medical College and Hospital on Sunday with his relatives. "Before his admission, we were told that there was no bed available. The hospital officials said if we could make arrangements for him to sleep on the floor, he would be admitted. We agreed,'' a relative said, alleging that the hospital authorities did not even bother to provide a mattress. "We went to a nearby shop and purchased a plastic sheet for him to lie on,'' he added.

Another relative recorded the plight on his cellphone and uploaded it on a social media platform. "After it went viral, many condemned the behaviour of the hospital authorities and criticised the government's claim of a model healthcare facility in the state. The video clip finally caught the attention of the authorities,'' said another relative.

Asked about the issue, hospital principal Panchanan Kundu said, "There is no facility for VIP patients in this healthcare centre. As soon as a bed was available, the ward in-charge arranged it for Hansda.'

Mamata to use state funds as Centre withholds flow

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

EXPRESSING her ire over the Centre's decision to withhold the release of funds under the MGNREGA scheme to West Bengal over alleged anomalies, Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Wednesday said her government would construct village roads using its own funds. She directed the zila parishads and panchayat samitis to utilise their funds for the purpose of constructing roads in rural Bengal.

The decision of carrying out the works at state's expenditure seems to be aimed at the panchayat elections scheduled to be held next year.

"The central government has stopped the release of funds under the MGNREGA scheme. Construction of roads in villages is the most visible development work in rural Bengal," Mamata said in an administrative meeting in Burdwan on Wednesday. "People get direct benefits of good roads. I am directing the zila parishads and panchayat samitis to carry out the construction of village roads before the panchayat elections,'' she added.

Talking about changing the name of the schemes, the CM said, "In Gujarat and other states, the central schemes are known by different names. Since we contribute 40 per cent of the cost in these projects, there is nothing wrong in it.''

Philippines govt orders news site Rappler to shut down

MANILA

PHILIPPINE journalist Maria Ressa's news company Rappler was continuing to work "as usual", the Nobel Peace Prize winner said on Wednesday, after it was ordered to shut down by authorities ahead of President Rodrigo Duterte's last day in office.

Ressa has been a vocal critic of Duterte and the deadly drug war he launched in 2016, triggering what media advocates say is a grinding series of criminal charges, probes and online attacks against her and Rappler.

The latest blow was delivered by the Philippine Securities and Exchange Commission.

In a statement, it confirmed the "revocation of the certificates of incorporation" of Rappler for violating "constitutional and statutory restrictions on foreign ownership in mass media".

"We continue to work, it is business as usual," Ressa told reporters, adding "we can only hope for the best" under Duterte's successor Ferdinand Marcos Jr. Marcos Jr, the son of the Philippines' former dictator who presided over widespread human rights abuses and corruption, takes over from Duterte on Thursday.

Activists fear Marcos Jr's presidency could worsen the situation for human rights and freedom of speech in the country. AFP

US TO BOOST MILITARY PRESENCE IN EUROPE TO REIN IN RUSSIA

To send two additional F-35 fighter jet squadrons to the UK; more arsenal to Germany

MADRID

PRESIDENT Joe Biden said that the US will significantly increase its military presence in Europe for the long haul, including by establishing its first permanent presence in Poland, to bolster regional security after Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

Meeting with NATO Secretary-General Jens Stoltenberg at the opening of the alliance's annual leaders' summit in Madrid, Biden said "NATO is strong and united" and that steps to be taken during the gathering will "further augment our collective strength." The White House said Biden's commitments mean the US will maintain a presence of 100,000 troops in Europe, up 20,000 from the levels before the Ukraine war began, for the "foreseeable future."

Biden opened his participation in the summit by announcing the permanent basing of a US military garrison in Poland. He also said the US is sending two additional F-35 fighter jet squadrons to the UK and will send more air defense and other capabilities to Germany and Italy.

"Today I'm announcing the United States will enhance our force posture in Europe and respond to the changing security environment as well as strengthening our collective security," he said.

US President Joe Biden, left, is greeted by NATO Secretary General Jens Stoltenberg during arrival for a NATO summit in Madrid, Spain on Wednesday | AP

Stoltenberg, who earlier said the alliance was facing its biggest challenge since World War II because of Russia's aggression toward Ukraine, welcomed Biden's announcement.

Biden said the US will permanently station the US Army V Corps forward command in Poland, a move that he said would would strengthen the US-NATO interoperability.

The move marks the first permanent basing of US forces on NATO's eastern edge. Biden added that the US is also stepping up its rotational deployments of troops to Romania and the Baltic region.

Celeste Wallander, an assistant US secretary of defense for international affairs, told reporters that having a permanent presence in Poland will be key to helping NATO navigate the changed security environment in Europe caused by Russia's invasion. The US supplies the bulk of NATO's military power.

US officials emphasised that the permanent basing applied only to headquarters units, not combat troops, and was therefore consistent with a 1997 agreement between NATO and Russia in which the alliance agreed not to permanently base combat troops in Eastern Europe as it aimed to build more constructive ties in the post-Cold War environment.

Poland's Deputy Foreign Minister Pawel Jablonski told Poland's state PAP news agency that the decision to add US command structure was a "manifestation of the ever closer cooperation between the US and Poland" and would give NATO allies a frontline insight into the Russian threat.

Biden also announced that the US would base two additional destroyers at its naval base in Rota, Spain, bringing the total number to six. AP

Russia not 'intimidated' by US military buildup

Moscow: Russia said it would not be intimidated by US military reinforcements in Europe as tensions spiral over Moscow's military intervention in Ukraine. "I think that those who propose such solutions are under the illusion that they will be able to intimidate Russia, somehow restrain it—they will not succeed," Deputy Foreign Minister Sergei Ryabkov told reporters. "The security of countries where additional contingents will appear will not be strengthened. The prospect of stabilisation will be distant. Risks will increase," he added. He said Russia would respond. "We have the capabilities and resources," Ryabkov added

Lankan crisis deepens as economy shrinks 1.6% in the first quarter

COLOMBO

Sri Lanka's economy shrank 1.6% in the first quarter of this year as an unprecedented financial crisis began to impact commercial activity, according to official data. The island nation's painful downturn has seen months of lengthy blackouts, runaway inflation and severe shortages of vital consumer goods.

A shortage of foreign currency needed for the import of fuel, fertiliser and other essentials had a devastating effect on the economy just as the coronavirus pandemic was receding.

The January-March contraction was worsened by the "adverse effects" of inflation and Sri Lanka's crashing currency, the statistics department said. The agency noted that a ban on pesticide and fertiliser imports last year, since repealed, had a devastating effect on farmers with the first-quarter rice harvest down 33%.

It added that an ongoing fuel shortage was having serious impacts on transport and industry. Sri Lanka has defaulted on its $51 billion foreign debt and is now in bailout talks with the International Monetary Fund. Protesters have demanded the resignation of President Gotabaya Rajapaksa over government mismanagement of the nation's finances.

Inflation hit a record 45.3% last month while the rupee has depreciated more than 50% against the dollar this year.

The government is seeking discounted oil from Russia and Qatar to address its critical shortfall in meeting the nation's energy needs, with petrol sales currently banned for two weeks except for emergencies.

Amidst the ongoing economic crisis in the country, a group of Tamil minority political parties in Sri Lanka has urged India to intervene and put pressure on President Gotabaya Rajapaksa to hold long-pending elections in nine provinces.

"The president has lost his mandate. So this is the best time to hold the postponed provincial council election to test the public opinion," Mano Ganesan, a leader of the Tamil Progressives Front, told reporters.

"The president is not going to hold any election…We urged the Indian High Commissioner to bring any possible pressure to hold the postponed provincial council election," said Ganesan, from Sri Lanka's main opposition Samagi Jana Balawegaya party.

The provincial elections have been postponed since 2018. The Tamil political leaders met the Indian High Commissioner to Sri Lanka, Gopal Baglay and sought Indian pressure on the Lankan president to hold the elections for the nine provinces. Agencies

GST Council's rate hike, items get exemption

GoM, headed by Karnataka CM Basavaraj Bommai, is given 3-month time to submit final report on rate rationalisation, tax slab merger

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE GST Council has finally bitten the bullet by increasing tax rates on several items amid inflationary pressure and supply disruptions due to geopolitical tensions.

Acting on the interim report of Group of Ministers (GoM) on rate rationalisation, the Council in its meeting in Chandigarh has increased rates on several goods and services. Though most of the increases in GST have been made owing to removal of inverted duty structure, the Council also decided to do away with exemptions on several goods and services. The changes will be implemented from July 18.

The GoM, headed by Karnataka Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, has been given 3 months time to submit a final report on rate rationalisation and tax slab merger.

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman in a statement on GST Councils decisions said none of the states opposed to increase in tax rates. When asked about the inflationary impact due to current tax rate hikes, the minister said inflation is not a particular states' concern. With the removal of exemption on certain items, pre-packed and labelled meat, except frozen, fish, curd, paneer, honey, dried leguminous vegetables, dried makhana, wheat and other cereals, wheat or meslin flour, jaggery, puffed rice (muri), all goods and organic manure and coir pith compost will now attract a 5% tax from July 18.

Besides this, 18% GST has been imposed on fee charged by banks for issue of cheques, either lose or in book form. Maps and charts, including atlases, will attract a 12% tax and the goods, which are unpacked, unlabelled and unbranded will continue to remain in the exemption list under GST.

Also, tax of 12% on hotel rooms below ₹1,000 per day will be levied, which currently falls under the exempted category.

Council also cleared correction in inverted duty structure for some items, including edible oil, coal, LED lamps, printing/drawing ink, finished leather and solar water heater. It also approved the fitment committee report on tweaking tax rates in some items. Tax rates for orthopaedic implants (trauma, spine, and arthroplasty implants in body); orthoses (splints, braces, belts & callipers); prostheses (artificial limbs) will be decreased to a uniform 5%, from the current differential rate of 12% and 5%. Meanwhile, the committee also recommended to cut GST on ropeway travel from 18% to 5% and on Ostomy Appliances to 5% from 12%. The GST on tetra pack will also be increased to 18% from the current rate of 12%. Further, the GST Council has decided to make e-way bill mandatory for intra-State movement of gold.

GST Council meeting: No decision on state compensation yet

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

THE GST Council has left the elephant in the room untouched as no decision was taken on extending the period of GST compensation cess despite call for the same by as many as 13 states.

Meanwhile, the Council directed the Group of Ministers (GoM) on casino, race course and online gaming to re-examine the issues in its terms of reference based on further inputs from states and submit its report shortly.

Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman while briefing media on GST Council's decisions said few states want the compensation scheme to be extended by at least few years, if not another five years. A final decision in this direction will be taken in the Council's next meet on July 18.

"We incurred huge losses in the last two years due to Covid pandemic. We need compensation cess to make up for the losses," Rajasthan Minister Shanti Dhariwal told reporters after the meeting got over. Meanwhile, Tamil Nadu Finance Minister Palanivel Thiaga Rajan stated that every state including those being ruled by Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) have asked for extending compensation scheme.

When GST was introduced in 2017, the Centre had committed to compensate states for five years till June 30, 2022, for incurring losses due to new regime subsuming various state levies.

In addition, the decision of imposing taxation of 28% on online gaming, casinos and lottery has been deferred. The GoM has been asked to re-examine the issues and submit the fresh report by July 15. GST Council will meet in the first week of August again to decide on this issue particularly.

While, the GoM headed by the Meghalaya Chief Minister Conrad Sangma, recommended that there shouldn't be any difference between the game of skill and game of chance, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman said that the Goa Finance Minister is of the view that casinos should be treated differently than online gaming, horse racing and lottery.

As per the GoM report, 28% should be levied on all activities like casinos, online gaming and lottery.

No immediate plan to elevate Isha Ambani, say sources

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AFTER elevation of son Akash as the chairman of Reliance Jio, some media reports were suggesting Mukesh Ambani might be looking at a similar role for daughter Isha Ambani in Reliance Retail. However, sources in the company told TNIE that no immediate plan like that is on the cards.

Earlier on Tuesday, Mukesh Ambani announced his resignation as director of Reliance's telecom unit Jio effective June 27, and appointment of his eldest son Akash as the chairman of the board. An international news agency, quoting sources, reported that Isha Ambani was set to be appointed chair of Reliance's retail arm, and an announcement was expected as early as Wednesday. However, sources at the company denied any such immediate plans.

Reliance Retail; which operates across food and grocery, consumer electronics and fashion and lifestyle segments; has been on a shopping spree, particularly acquiring designer labels. It recently acquired stakes in designer brands like Ritu Kumar, Manish Malhotra, Anamika Khanna, among others.

Isha, who manages strategy development and implementation for all marketing teams, including digital, advertising, communications, and creative for the conglomerate's retail arm, launched online fashion retail company AJio in 2016, a subsidiary of Reliance Retail led by her. Isha has studied psychology at Yale University and MBA at Stanford Institute of Business. She has briefly worked with McKinsey & Co in the US.

Govt deregulates domestic crude oil market

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE government on Wednesday deregulated the sale of domestically-produced crude oil, giving companies autonomy to sell their produce to whomever they want.

The decision, experts believe, is likely to attract many national and international companies for exploration and production in India. Currently, it is the central government who decides which oil refinery gets how much crude from each producer.

"The Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs, chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, has approved 'deregulation of sale of domestically produced crude oil', whereby the government has decided to cease allocation of crude oil and condensate with effect from October 1, 2022. This will ensure marketing freedom for all Exploration and Production (E&P) operators," said petroleum ministry in a press note. Following the decision, the condition in the production sharing contracts (PSCs) to sell crude oil to government or its nominee or government companies will accordingly be waived off. Thus, all exploration and production companies will now be free to sell crude oil from their fields in the domestic market. "Government revenues like royalty, cess, etc. will continue to be calculated on a uniform basis across all contracts. As earlier, exports will not be permissible," said the ministry. The decision was hailed by the experts and they said it would increase revenue for the government. Anil Agarwal, chairman of Vedanta, opined India has vast reserves of hydrocarbons and can produce oil and gas at the lowest cost. "Rationalisation of taxes and levies and longer lease of mines, in line with global standards, along with self-certification will help boost India's domestic production. This decision will attract many national and international companies to do exploration and production in India," he said.

Sourav Mitra, director of energy at CRISIL, said the decision is going to benefit both the industry players and the government. "Market-based pricing of crude oil and its condensates will encourage investments in the E&P sector and boost indigenous crude oil output aligning with the 'aatmanirbhar Bharat' vision of the government," said Mitra.

PFIs can trade in non-agri commodity derivatives

RAM SAHGAL @ Mumbai

IN a potential game-changing move, capital markets regulator Sebi has thrown open India's non-farm commodity derivatives trading to foreign portfolio investors (FPI).

To begin with, the FPIs will be allowed to trade only in cash settled non-agri contracts and select non-agri indices , Sebi decided at its board meeting on Wednesday. The regulator will notify their effective date of participation through a circular.

Up until now FPIs were allowed to trade in exchange traded derivatives contracts (ETCDs) only to the extent of their physical market exposure in a particular commodity. If an FPI, categorised as an eligible foreign entity , did not have any underlying exposure , it was barred from trading Indian ETCDs. Sebi at its board meeting has discontinued the EFE route and thrown open ETCDs to FPIs , regardless of their having underlying physical exposure or not.

Since they will be allowed access to only cash settled contracts initially, contracts eligible for their participation will be crude oil , natural gas and a few non farm indices like Metals , Energy and Bullion where there is no delivery . "It's a move that is sure to deepen participation in India's almost two -decade old commodity derivatives market," said a senior official from MCX , which runs India's biggest commodity derivatives segment . In FY22 , ETCD turnover stood at Rs 156.3 lakh crore . At Rs 136.72 lakh crore , MCX had 87% market share, followed by BSE (9.8%) , NCDEX (2.6%) and NSE the rest. In comparison , equity derivatives' turnover on NSE in FY22, where FPIs are allowed, was a whopping ₹16,952 lakh crore.

Electric 2W penetration can reach to 100% by FY27, forecasts Niti Aayog

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA's think-tank Niti Aayog has forecast a 100% penetration of electric two-wheelers (e-2W) in the Indian market by FY 2026–27 in case of an 'optimistic scenario'.

Under this scenario, all factors that have a positive influence on the adoption of e-2W have to be present.

The very crucial demand incentive is assumed to be in place throughout the period and the battery cost is assumed to reduce by 8% annually. It is also assumed that the range and power of the vehicle has to be improved by 5% during FY 2024 to FY 2026 and by 10% in FY 2027, the report noted.

Niti Aayog forecast that e-2W sales may cross 2.2 crore units in FY 2028–29 under the 'optimistic', 'same performance' and 'battery cost challenged' scenarios.

In case of the 'incentive-driven' scenario, in which demand incentive is assumed to continue throughout but with only 2% reduction of battery cost annually and no improvement in range and performance, the e-2W sale will touch around 55 lakh unit and at a market penetration of 21.86% by FY 2031

In the least favorable 'challenged diffusion' scenario, a maximum market penetration of only 5.82% will be achieved by FY 2024. This will be followed by a decline due to removal of demand incentive.

Total e-2W sales in FY 2022 stood at around 2.31 lakh units, up 460% over FY21 sales. However, its penetration was around 2% in total 2-wheelers sales. Major research firms in India believe that EV penetration will reach 15-20% in total 2Ws by FY 2026 in terms of sales.

BYJU'S group firm lays off 500 employees

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

EDTECH company BYJU'S group companies-WhiteHat Jr and Toppr, together have laid off around 500 employees. This lay off comes at a time when the edtech start-ups are struggling and laying off employees citing cost cutting measures, realigning business and capital crunch.

BYJU'S acquired online coding platform WhiteHat Jr in 2020. The start-up has laid off around 300 employees. Earlier in April, close to 250 employees resigned when the company asked them to return to the office.

When asked about the layoff, WhiteHat Jr spokesperson said, to realign with our business priorities, we are optimising our team to accelerate results and best position the business for long-term growth.

Another group company of BYJU'S, Toppr, a learning platform, has laid off around 200 employees. Last year, BYJU'S had acquired Toppr for $150 million.

Toppr provides a learning app for kindergarten to K-12 students. On layoff, BYJU'S spokesperson said, "To recalibrate our business priorities and accelerate our long-term growth, we are optimising our teams across our group companies."

Recently, edtech unicorn Vedantu fired 424 employees, and it is expecting fund shortage in the coming quarters. It said capital will be scarce for the coming quarters. Apart from Vedantu, FrontRow and Unacademy have also laid off many of its employees.

Another edtech start-up Udayy, which started in April 2020 during the pandemic period, has shut down its operations.

According to a new report, currently, India's future unicorns are worth $49 billion, with an increase of 36% as compared to last year.

The Hurun Research Institute on Wednesday released the ASK Private Wealth Hurun India Future Unicorn Index 2022. Bengaluru continues to be the start-up capital of India, as the city is home to 46 probable unicorns, followed by Delhi NCR (25) and Mumbai (16).

Start-ups such as Shiprocket, Zepto, Turtlemint, Ather Energy and Vivriti Capital are expected to become unicorns in the next two years, according to the report.

It classifies Zepto and Shiprocket among others as Gazelles. The Gazelles are projected to be worth between $500 million and $1 billion.

The prospective unicorns featured on the list were founded on average in 2015, with the great majority selling software and services and only 17% selling physical goods.

The average age of Indian start-up founders in the index is 38. There are 18 start-up founders aged under 30 and 19 aged above 50.

Rajesh Saluja, CEO and MD, ASK Wealth Advisors said, "India has emerged as the third largest ecosystem for start-ups after the US and China, and saw a record 44 start-ups turning unicorns in 2021."

Bavuma out of England tour

South Africa batter and limited-overs captain Temba Bavuma was ruled out of next month's tour to England on Wednesday with a left elbow injury. Keshav Maharaj will fill in for Bavuma as ODI captain and David Miller will stand in as T20 captain. Bavuma was injured in this month's T20 series in India. He needs eight weeks to recover from the injury, Cricket South Africa said.

AMID CHANGE, EYES ON BUMRAH

Despite selection conundrum, the focus will be on India pacer ahead of the fifth Test against England

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

ONE of the most defining moments of the fifth day of the fourth Test between India and England at The Oval in September was Jasprit Bumrah's magic with an oldish ball. He broke through the spine of the batting order with wickets of Ollie Pope and Jonny Bairstow with balls that hooped back to disturb the furniture. Till that moment, it was tense. Post those two wickets off five Bumrah balls, it had become academic.

Indian pacers Mohammed Siraj (L), Jasprit Bumrah during a training session in Edgbaston ahead of the one-off Test against England on Wednesday | AP

It's likely that those three names could all be key figures in the fate of the fifth and final Test, being held more than nine months later because of a Covid outbreak in the Indian camp then. Pope and Bairstow, under the new England regime, occupy two crucial positions either side of Joe Root at No 4. During the New Zealand series, both played multiple key knocks. That they don't dot and look to move the game forward with their proactive approach means there is a world of difference between then and now.

It could be the theme of this Test because change is prevalent in the visiting side as well. There is a new coaching regime, a new captain (more on this later), possibly a new batch of openers and at least two new specialist batters. All eyes, though, will be on Bumrah. There is a chance that regular skipper Rohit Sharma may miss out if he doesn't return two negative Covid-19 tests in the next 24 hours. While coach Rahul Dravid refused to rule out Rohit during a press conference on Wednesday — contradicting earlier reports that said he was out — his lead fast-bowler will be primed, one way or another.

For one, if he does get walk out to the toss, it will be the first time that an Indian pacer would be captain this century. The other, more important thing is that the 28-year-old was front and centre in the last English Summer and will be the main man if India are to win a series in England for the first time since 2007. He picked up Root thrice apart from picking up four wickets within the first four overs across the four Tests. With England radically altering their strategy, Bumrah is an antidote to 'BazBall'. He picks up wickets with new and old ball, can move it, is deceptively quick and can make the opposition batters doubt their own methods.

On the captaincy, Dravid was cryptic as he asked reporters to wait for 'official sources'. "The update on Rohit is that he's being monitored. He has not yet been ruled out. He needs to get the negative tests to be available... he will have a test later tonight (Wednesday) as well and maybe one tomorrow (Thursday) morning as well."

Irrespective of what happens, Bumrah will be waiting.

Neeraj set for Stockholm challenge

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

THE last competition was not ideal. Tokyo 2020 champion Neeraj Chopra had to walk away after a nasty slip in extreme conditions. It was cold. According to his coach Klaus Bartonietz, it was the "coldest day" they competed in. Rain made the newly-laid track slippery. Neeraj managed to throw the spear 86.69m before the fall, but was enough to secure gold at Kuortane Games.

On Thursday, when he competes at the Stockholm Diamond League, he would be looking to stand ahead of a strong field. The field is mouth-watering with almost all top javelin-throwers of the season in action. Oliver Halendar from Finland, who beat Neeraj to gold at Paavo Nurmi with 89.83m (personal best), has entered. So have the 90m+ throwers of this season — Trinidad and Tobago's Anderson Peters (93.07m PB) and Jakub Valdejch (90.88m of Czech Republic (PB) — in the Doha DL. Since then, Peters has crossed the 90m mark once more with a throw of 90.75m but in Paavo Nurmi and Kuortane, he managed 86.60m and 84.75m. While Valdejch's best had been 85.50m in early June. Julian Weber of Germany too has a throw better than Neeraj this season with a distance of 89.54m. Since each DL gives athletes points, for Neeraj a strong finish in Stockholm will be crucial after missing Doha. Since Monaco (August 10) would be three days after Commonwealth Games,

Neeraj will not be able to compete, his result in Lausanne on August 26 will be crucial to qualify for the final in Zurich.

Neeraj, however, had a brilliant opening to the season at Paavo Nurmi in Turku where he managed threw a personal best 89.30m. Neeraj and his team left for Stockholm on June 22 for the Diamond League. For Neeraj, Diamond League has not been a very happy hunting ground so far and fourth has been his best finish. His last appearance in a Diamond League was in 2018 in Zuirich before injury forced him off the circuit for more than a year. Last year before the Olympics, he had to abandon his plans of competing in London because of visa issue and also did not want to expend too much energy before the delayed Tokyo 2020 Olympics. Weather prediction for Stockholm is not very exciting with prediction of thunder storm but by evening during the event, there is less likelihood of rain. His team is confident of a good show. Coach Bartonietz last week told this daily that there was no issue after Neeraj's fall and he is fit. With this being the last event before shifting attention to the World Championships, throwing well and getting the technique right too would be crucial. The elusive 90m mark has turned into a national interest, especially after the season opening throw of 89.30m, but for Neeraj there is no pressure as such. For his coach, it's just a number and it's more psychological. But one point both agree is that the mark is within reach. "All I need is a good throw where everything goes perfect from run-up to release," was what Neeraj had said after Turku. His coach too echoed those words. In the end it's like what Klaus had said, "Neeraj has to control the javelin properly and get a clean throw. One good throw at that moment with good control is enough."

Moeen Ali calls England favourites

GOMESH S @ Chennai

AHEAD of their the fifth Test against England in Manchester last year, India, who were leading the series 2-1 then, were the clear favourites despite the Covid positive cases in the camp. Rohit Sharma was in the form of his life, with ample support from his partner KL Rahul. Jasprit Bumrah and Mohammed Siraj were outbowling the home attack and momentum was with the tourists.

However, as they return to play the one-off Test that was postponed, this time at Edgbaston starting Friday, a lot has changed for both the teams. Ben Stokes and Brendon McCullum have taken over England as captain and coach while Rohit and Rahul Dravid have become their Indian counterparts.

"If this series was finished last year, India would have won 3-1, but now, I feel the way England have played I think India might be slightly undercooked, due to the lack of cricket in England," said the all-rounder in an interaction facilitated by Sony Sports Network on Tuesday. Test will be live on Sony Sports

In UK time zone, lifters target strong CWG start

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

INDIAN weightlifters are getting into their zone, almost literally. They are perhaps one of those few players from India to reach Birmingham first for acclimatisation. According to the team, the city, like the athletes, is slowly warming up to the Games. Stationed at MSG Gym, a few kilometres away from the Commonwealth Games Village, the team is now getting used to the place, diet and of course, the time zone.

It was Mirabai Chanu, who had given India the perfect start at the 2020 Tokyo Olympics last year with silver; this time at the CWG too, the lifters are expected give India a strong opening when the CWG begins on July 28 and lifting starts two days later. The Indian contingent comprising eight male and seven female lifters had left the country on June 24 for England. The contingent also includes five coaches, two physiotherapists, and as many masseurs.

"Acclimatisation is the key to success," head coach Vijay Sharma told this daily. With the squad consisting of a considerable number of new faces, more than a one-month camp at the venue will help the lifters to a great extent. "Had the event been in Asia, we wouldn't have disturbed our training schedule and stayed back home. But a change in the time zone needs adjustment. Almost everything changes including your sleep pattern. You need to adjust these things as even a minor deviation or issue can affect your performance. It doesn't matter whether he/she is a seasoned athlete or a newcomer, every one of them takes at least a week to adjust to the new time zone," added the coach. He, however, asserted that the camp will help the freshers the most.

Diet is another important aspect and the coach believes reaching the venue early will only help lifters in this regard. "In India, we used to plan diet and were being served in the mess accordingly. Here we don't have to worry as everything is in the menu and we can choose according to our needs."

THE NEW INDIAN EXPRESS
XPLORE

A new system to restrict Russian profiteering from oil sale at discount rates and bypassing the Western sanctions regime to feed its war machine is on the anvil. Group of Seven democracies have already had productive discussions with China and India, big consumers of Russian oil. Let's explore

UNDERSTANDING THE MECHANICS OF IMPOSING FUEL PRICE CAP ON RUSSIA

WILL OIL PRICE CAP BRING RUSSIA TO ITS KNEES?

On Tuesday, the Group of Seven (G7) rich countries decided to consider capping prices of Russian petroleum products in a bid to punish the country for waging a war on Ukraine. The idea is to strip Moscow of windfall profits from the unprecedented spike in oil prices in the wake of the Ukraine war by getting all buyers to agree to pay much lower than what they are currently paying. Also on the table is to intercept transportation of Russian products being sold at rates higher than the capped level.

WHY A PRICE CAP NOW?

The plan, mooted by the US and being considered by the grouping of the world's wealthiest nations, is also aimed at cooling inflation that has surged to record levels in many countries. According to the US, Moscow is using the huge gains from the surge in energy prices to fund its aggression in Ukraine. Washington believes that hurting Russia's financial muscle could force Moscow to end or at least scale down the war.

HOW WILL IT BE ENFORCED?

The G7 is considering a range of options, including a comprehensive prohibition of all services that enable the transportation of Russian seaborne oil, unless it is priced below the cap, which is yet to be determined. If a country wants to ignore the price ceiling and import Russian products at higher rates, European insurance and US payment systems will not be available.

WHEN WILL G7 TAKE THE FINAL CALL?

On Tuesday, G7 leaders said the feasibility of a price cap would be considered as a matter of urgency.

WILL IT WORK?

Many experts believe the plan is fraught with problems. They point out that the initial attempt to ban Russian oil has had the opposite result. Also, how Russia could react to such a move is also needs to be seen. Moscow could simply reduce exports instead of bowing to pressure tactics.

WHAT DO INDUSTRY PLAYERS THINK?

For the price-cap plan to take off, it will need the cooperation from all Russian oil importers including non-G7 countries such as China and India which are two of the largest buyers. More importantly, the idea may face challenges in the European Union, where sanctions require the consent of all 27 member states. Even German chancellor Olaf Scholz feels the idea is "very ambitious" and "a lot of things will have to fall into place" to make it a reality. Industry players such as ExxonMobil CEO Darren Woods have said it should be left to the market to determine the price.

HOW WILL IT AFFECT RUSSIA?

Currently, when benchmark Brent prices are hovering in the $110-$120 per barrel range, Russia sells oil at heavy discounts of $30-$40 per barrel to willing buyers such as India and China. According to reports, Russia's production costs are as low as $3-4 per barrel. This means, Russian firms can make profit even if oil prices were fixed at $25-30 per barrel.

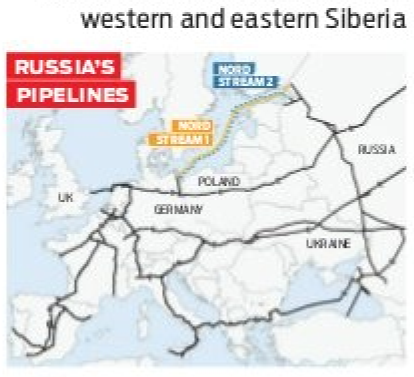
EX FILE • ENERGY

Decoding Russian oil and gas

Russia is one of the top three producers of oil in the world along with United States and Saudi Arabia and the 2nd largest producer of natural gas. According to International Energy Agency (IEA), in 2021, 45% of Russia's federal budget was made up of revenues from oil and natural gas

● PRODUCTION OF OIL

Though Russia has oil-producing facilities all over the country, most of its crude is produced in western and eastern Siberia



● CRUDE EXPORT VIA TANKERS

Russia also ships crude via tankers from the Northwest ports of Ust-Luga and Primorsk, as well as the Black Sea port of Novorossiysk, and Kozmino in the Far East. In addition, Russia exports crude by rail, according to International Energy Agency

● MAIN GAS PRODUCERS

Russia's main gas producers are Gazprom and Novatek. Gazprom is the largest producer. However, even oil companies like Rosneft facilitate in producing gas

● TYPES OF CRUDE OIL

There are different types of crude that are produced and exported by the country. However, its main export is Urals which is a medium sour crude

Through the East Siberia-Pacific Ocean pipeline, Russia also exports large volumes of ESPO blend to Asia

Siberian light, Sokol, Sakhalin blend, Arctic oil and Novy Port are some other types of crude that are exported by Russia

● PRODUCTION OF GAS

Initially, the production of gas was concentrated in West Siberia. However, due to the shift in investment in the past decade, the production has now shifted to Yamal, Eastern Siberia, the Far East and offshore Arctic

TRANSPORTATION OF GAS

Russia transports its gas via transit routes through Belarus and Ukraine and through pipelines like Nord Stream, Blue Stream and Turk Stream

UK extends steel tariffs by 2 years

TRADE

LONDON: Britain has extended steel tariffs for another two years to protect its ailing industry, the government said on Wednesday, breaching World Trade Organisation obligations.

Trade minister Anne-Marie Trevelyan cited "global disruptions to the energy markets and supply chains" for the decision.

"A strategic steel industry is of the utmost importance to the UK, especially given the uncertainty of political and economic waters that we are currently all charting," Trevelyan told parliament.

"Trade remedies are one of the ways that government can protect their businesses. "They tackle issues of dumping, of unfair government subsidies, or … give businesses time to adjust to unforeseen increases in imports," the minister added.

The energy-intensive steel sector in Britain, already suffering at the hands of cheap Chinese imports, now faces sky-rocketing production costs as fuel prices surge.

Tariffs for certain steel product categories imposed on developed countries and China have now been extended to June 2024. "It is in the economic interest of the UK to maintain these safeguards, to reduce the risk of material harm if they were not maintained," Trevelyan told lawmakers. After Britain's departure from the European Union, the country rolled over quotas and tariffs on 10 steel products until mid-2024.

The UK has now decided to extend temporary safeguards on five other categories for "a further two years", Trevelyan said. "I have…concluded there would be serious injury, or the threat of serious injury to UK steel producers, if the safeguards on the five additional categories were to be removed at this time," the minister added. Wednesday's decision sets the government on a collision course with the WTO.

With a successful stint in Jugjugg Jeeyo, Akshay Datta, who is currently shooting for Jawan – starring Shah Rukh Khan – has more than one reason to be grateful

EYES ON THE STARS

MONIKA MONALISA

IT'S always great to have a confidant at a workplace, and Akshay Datta is that office buddy to Varun Dhawan in the movie Jugjugg Jeeyo which was released on June 24. Datta, who was living in Bengaluru before moving to Mumbai to pursue his dream of trying his luck in Bollywood, has been thrilled about being associated with something as big as Dharma Productions.

The feeling has been surreal for him, especially with all the positive response he is getting from his friends and family. "This was exciting because it's a big film with a reputed production house and an even bigger cast. I have been getting a lot of messages from friends and family. The people I have lost touch with are texting me after watching the movie saying 'what a pleasant surprise'. The good thing is that people can watch with family because today the world is moving toward gritty content. It's fine to be part of a movie with song and dance," says Datta, who is currently shooting Jawan starring Shah Rukh Khan, which will release on June 2, 23'.

Datta has been part of projects like Guilty Minds but they were mostly supporting roles. "I was working as a brand manager but always had an ambition to get into the creative field. When I decided to take the plunge, I realised that whatever work I have done thus far, does not matter how interesting it has been, I have to start from scratch," says Datta, who was trained by late acting guru Ratan Thakore Grant. He mentions one of Grant's pieces of advice that he still follows. "There are no small parts, there are only small actors. Even if you have a 30-sec role, you can still make an impact."

Akshay Datta with Varun Dhawan

Having played lead roles in many theatre and independent projects, Datta wants to have a wider focus on acting. "I have done various projects where I have played leads but taking up a small role also teaches you a lot. For instance, Vijay Raaz is known to be an excellent actor but he made a career out of not playing the lead," says Datta, adding, "Of course, the goal is to do greater work, play bigger and interesting roles but I do believe screen time is never a benchmark."

While a lot has been spoken about nepotism and Datta's entry with no backing apart from his versatile work resume, he says being from a corporate background helps him understand structures and the process of work. "However, we are not as organised as the West is but we are getting there and getting better. It is also difficult because there is a huge gap between supply and demand. There are so many people vying for a few roles," he says, adding that even with all the flaws, he still loves the industry, the whole process and the energy of a creative environment like being on a set or being at a rehearsal space.

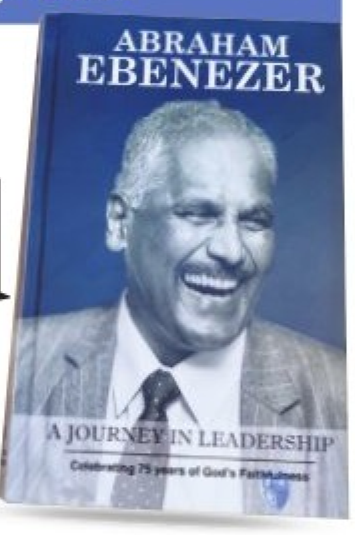
Renowned educationist and retired principal of Bishop Cotton Boys' School, Abraham Ebenezer condenses his experiences spanning 40 years into a 400-page book

Leading forward



ANILA KURIAN

IN the world of education, Abraham Ebenezer is a familiar name. Now, as consultant to many schools and colleges, Ebenezer has released his book called A Journey in Leadership where he shares stories about the highs and lows of his life, the changes he has brought about and more.

Speaking to CE, he says, "This book is a culmination of everything I've seen over the years, including losing my wife at the age of 28. It includes the achievements and tragedies I've faced over the years." The book was launched at a star hotel recently by Grammy winner Ricky Kej, who studied at Cottons during Ebenezer's term.

Ebenezer started his career as a sub-registrar in 1973 and decided to leave it within a year. "Everyone thought I was making a mistake. I became a lecturer at RC College of Commerce and Management and worked in many capacities till I became the principal at Bishop Cotton Boys' School in 1993," he says. For 13-long years, the educationist served as the principal before retiring in 2006. "It was very rare to be called by the church to become a principal in those times. I was honoured to have received such a call and couldn't refuse even though I was planning to take up the IAS exams," says Ebenezer, who has earlier authored Eton of the East and The Walls That Speak.

In 2004, life took a turn for the worse when he was diagnosed with esophageal cancer, which came as a huge shock. "Initially, the doctors told me that I just have a couple of months to live. But thanks to my faith in the divine, willpower, good medication, doctor's expertise and family support, I was able to fight it. I had to go through a nine-hour surgery where my stomach was removed — even today I can't eat much," he says, adding that he also recovered from Covid twice. "Be it my administrative work or personal life, I wouldn't have been able to achieve them without the help of my support system," he adds.

The septuagenarian hails from Chamarajanagar and was the youngest of eight children. "I learnt my first alphabet when I was five years old. My family had everything but education was something we lacked. But they encouraged me to study and I became a postgraduate of Mysore University and was awarded a doctorate by the International University, Missouri, USA," he recalls.

Full of vitality at his age, Ebenezer doesn't believe in retirement life. He says, "Till I have my health, I want to continue working and help others grow. I love travelling. I was in Goa last week just to unwind and refresh my mind."

AVS KOTTAKKAL COMPLETES 18 YEARS OF SERVICE IN BENGALURU

Arya Vaidya Sala,Kottakkal, (AVS), which has a history of over 120 years as a charitable institution engaged in the practice and propagation of Ayurveda, the ancient health care science of India, has completed 18 years of providing its services to Bengalureans, and in its eventful journey, the Jayanagar branch clinic, inaugurated in 2004, is planning to restart its diabetic clinic, which was closed during the Covid pandemic.

With 26 Branch Clinics located across the country in major cities and towns, the Jayanagar branch clinic will also be launching special clinics and OPs, a decision on which will be taken shortly.

Meanwhile, the ancient healthcare centre continues to market its products like Kottakkal Ayurveda Ayush Kwath Churnam and C Health Forte post the pandemic. "Kottakkal Ayurveda Ayush Kwath Churnam helps boost the immune system, aids in fighting microbes, and helps relieve respiratory issues. C Health Forte is used as a positive health promoter addressing Immune deficiency, general debility and emaciation," said Dr. K. Ramachandran, Branch Manager and Chief Medical Officer.

With 90 authorised dealers in Bengaluru, the multi-unit, multi-disciplinary, multi-functional and multi-crore organisation, has branch clinics in Bengaluru, Mangaluru and Mysuru. All branch clinics provides free medical consultation with experienced physicians who are trained at Kottakkal. All the reputed Kottakkal medicines are available at the branch clinics.

"The Bengaluru branch is also provided with Walk-In treatment facility. Usually, the elaborate Panchakarma therapies require the patients to get admitted in a hospital as in-patient. This may not suit the hectic life style of some professionals. The Walk-in treatment facilities are intended for such patients. They can walk into the facility with prior appointment and undergo the prescribed therapy and get back to their professional routines. The Walk-in therapy is administered by skilled and trained paramedical staff under the supervision of experienced physicians," explained Dr. Ramachandran.

AVS offers classical Ayurvedic medicines and authentic Ayurvedic treatments and therapies to patients from all over India and abroad.

AVS was established at Kottakkal in Kerala State of India in 1902 by the visionary physician and philanthropist, the late Vaidyaratnam P.S. Varier. Started essentially as a village clinic, it has now grown into a multi-disciplinary and multi-functional organisation. It has operations in different areas of Ayurvedic practice. AVS runs Ayurvedic Hospitals at Kottakkal, Delhi, and Kochi. All classical Ayurvedic medicines, therapies and expert medical advice are available there. AVS has three medicine manufacturing units attached with well equipped quality control labs. These factories produce more than 550 classical and new generation formulations which are made available to patients through 26 Branch clinics and 1650 authorised Dealers spread across the country. AVS is also engaged in research activities, publishes Ayurvedic periodicals and books, cultivates medicinal plants and conducts educational programmes.

FIT BIT

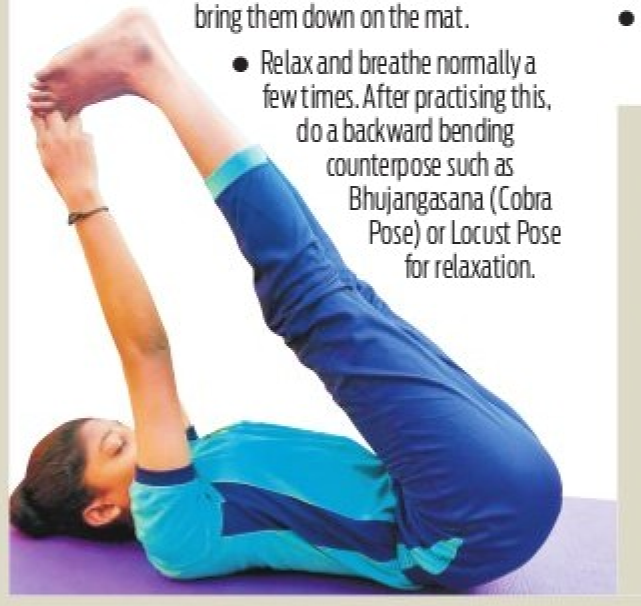
SUPTA PASCHIMOTTANASANA VARIATION

(Reclined intense back stretch pose variation)

In this variation, gentle lifting of the hips and finally moving to Supta Paschimottanasana can be introduced to beginners to help them transit and move smoothly. It strengthens the arms, legs, and abdominal muscles, and can help in improving the flexibility and mobility to set you up for better movement patterns like running, cycling, and playing sports. It's a good pose for runners and athletes.

STEPS

- Lie flat on your back and tuck the chin slightly in to lengthen the back of the neck. Gently, bend both the legs at the knees and slowly straighten them towards the sky.
- Now, bend the knees a little, catch hold of the big toes with index and middle fingers and thumb.
- Feel your thigh bone gripping down into the hip socket to find a little lift. Exhale; take your knee closer towards your face, keeping the legs straight, lengthening the arms, and making a 45-degree angle between the legs and the torso.
- Take long, deep breaths. Keep your shoulders grounded. Close your eyes, and try to maintain this deep stretch for 3-5 breaths, initially.
- To release, inhale slowly, bend both legs slightly, release the arms back. Exhale, fold the legs, bring them down on the mat.
- Relax and breathe normally a few times. After practising this, do a backward bending counterpose such as Bhujangasana (Cobra Pose) or Locust Pose for relaxation.



BENEFITS

- Relaxes the back and waist, relieves back pain.
- Hips gain better stability.
- Builds awareness in body movements.
- Aligns head, shoulders, lower back, and partially the hips.
- Improves body and breath awareness.
- Contracting of the abdominal muscles with pelvis helps in the downward flow of energy.
- Impacts the entire body's ability to de-stress completely and remain calm and relaxed.
- Tones the digestive and reproductive organs.

LIMITATIONS

If you have had any recent injury or surgery in arms, shoulders, knees, hips or hamstrings, or suffering from spondylosis sciatica, hernia or knee problems, avoid this.

People suffering from high blood pressure, heart disease, weak spine, back pain, cold or sinusitis, vertigo and pregnant and menstruating women should avoid this.

Study identifies gene causing diabetes post Covid

JAPANESE researchers have identified a pivotal gene that mediates the effects of SARS-CoV-2 infection on blood sugar metabolism. Covid-19 is best known for causing respiratory disease, but can also damage other organ systems; notably, disruption of blood sugar regulation that can lead to new-onset diabetes.

In a study published in June in Metabolism, researchers from Osaka University reveal that Covid interferes with insulin signalling, leading to diabetes. "The insulin/IGF signalling pathway is a key pathway in the regulation of energy metabolism and cell survival," said Jihoon Shin, first author on the study. "Therefore, we suspected that SARS-CoV-2 affects this signalling pathway to cause problems with blood sugar regulation."

To test this, the researchers analysed datasets of gene expression from patients, as well as in vivo and in vitro models, infected with SARS-CoV-2. They specifically looked for genes that were noticeably over- or under-expressed compared with uninfected patients, animals, or cells.

'POSITIVE' APPROACH

IF YOU'RE WORRIED YOU HAVE BEEN EXPOSED TO HIV/AIDS VIRUS, HERE'S HELP AT HAND

DR DEVIPRASAD HEGDE

THE Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV)/AIDS has already devastated many individuals, families, and communities. People from families living with HIV/AIDS often have to deal with psychosocial stress, reduced parenting capacity, a shift in family structure, financial deprivation, stigma and discrimination. But the good thing about HIV is that it is not transmitted as easily as it is thought to be. People around the world are convinced that the virus is easier to get than it is.

The average person thinks that if you have unprotected sex with an HIV-positive person a single time and you will get HIV for sure. The truth is that it's not nearly that easy to get HIV. The medical literature estimates that the transmission rate is about 0.1 per cent per sexual act or 10 per cent per year. The chances of developing HIV after exposure depends on factors such as the method of exposure, the infected person's viral load, and the number of exposures you had. It's possible to develop HIV after a single exposure, even if it's statistically unlikely. HIV is transmitted between people through bodily fluids. Unprotected anal or vaginal sex and sharing needles are common ways people contract HIV. People can also transmit HIV to their babies during pregnancy or while breastfeeding. HIV can be transmitted even with a single, brief exposure.

How often to test

If your initial test comes up negative, you should test again at the end of your window period.

It is important to note that people with HIV who are taking Anti Retroviral Therapy (ART) are virally suppressed and do not transmit HIV to their sexual partners. Early access to ART and support to remain on treatment is therefore critical, not only to improve the health of people with HIV but also to prevent its transmission.

(The writer is senior consultant of internal medicine at Kauvery Hospital)

IF YOU THINK YOU'VE BEEN EXPOSED TO HIV, HERE'S WHAT YOU CAN DO

TALK WITH A MEDICAL PROFESSIONAL
A medical professional can advise you on what tests are available and let you know if you're eligible for Post- Exposure Prophylaxis (PEP)

TESTING
It's important to get tested if you think you may have been exposed to HIV so you can start treatment as soon as possible. HIV tests can't immediately detect infection. The window period of when a test can correctly identify a positive infection varies by the type of test used.

POST-EXPOSURE PROPHYLAXIS
Post-exposure prophylaxis (PEP) is a drug therapy that needs to be taken within 72 hours of exposure, and it can significantly reduce your chances of developing HIV.

A FRUITFUL MATCH

There is a right way to eat fruits and it is by finding the perfect mix. Dietitian Preethi Rahul gives us a list of combinations

SANDHYA KUMAR

SOCIAL media's chokehold over us netizens is fascinating and alarming, especially in the pandemic era where fitness has become an acute priority. And in an attempt to achieve this, curating an enriching diet with a combination of fruits and veggies seems to be the ideal resort. However, puritans of health believe that some combination of fruits can hamper one's digestive system, some others seem to refute the claim. Preethi Rahul, a registered dietitian, offers, "Every fruit has a different rate of digestion and absorption in the body, and mixing them can cause multiple problems in the digestive system such as bloating, nausea etc." While she maintains that combining fruits which fall under similar categories is good for the body, she insists on being aware of what to eat and how to pair. "Ideally, it is good to have two different fruits a day. Knowing what to pair with what and when to consume it is key. It's always better to have fruits in between meals or as a snack and not as a dessert right after a meal as it increases blood glucose levels," she informs. Offering some fruit wisdom to the less-initiated, Rahul shares a curated list of dos and dont's while combining fruits.

DO NOT MIX: ACIDIC AND SUB-ACIDIC FRUITS WITH SWEET FRUITS

WHY? Mixing acidic and sub-acidic fruits like strawberries, apples, peaches etc. with sweet fruits like bananas can inhibit digestion and is known to cause headaches, nausea and acidosis.

IDEAL PAIR: Mixing fruits with high levels of acidity with those fruits with low levels of acidity can be very beneficial. For example, blackberries (highly acidic) when consumed with grapes (low levels of acidity) produce large amounts of antioxidants. These antioxidants are known to aid anti-ageing, and also inhibit tumour growth. Mixing berries with other berries is also beneficial as they help increase antioxidant levels.

DO NOT MIX: MELONS WITH OTHER FRUITS

WHY? Musk melon and watermelon have high water content. Therefore, they tend to be digested faster than fruits. This can lead to indigestion if combined with other fruits.

IDEAL PAIR: Mix melons with other melons as they have high water content and are rich in vitamin C, antioxidants and amino acids like l-Citrulline, all of which are essential for a robust immune system.

DO NOT MIX: PAPAYA AND LEMON

WHY? This combination is known to cause anaemia and haemoglobin imbalance in individuals.

IDEAL PAIR: Combining papaya with kiwi and guava proves beneficial to the body as these fruits have similar properties. All three fruits have high content of vitamins A, C and potassium that are favourable for the immune system.

A director is like a father and actors are all children: Shivarajkumar

CE FEATURES

A director is like a father, and we are all children. Vijay Milton is one of those few directors, who has aesthetically designed my character, and he was particular about the costumes and the action block sequences. Overall, I had a good experience shooting Bairagee. There was a feeling of satisfaction about this project," says Shivarajkumar about his upcoming film Bairagee and its director Vijay Milton. Talking to CE, the film cast and crew shared their experiences working in the film.

The team also remembered dialogue writer Late Guru Kashyap and said that he has penned some extraordinary lines for the film.

"The film has created a good pre-release buzz. Eighteen months of our efforts will be finally out on July 1," says Vijay, who particularly thanked music director Anoop Seelin for introducing Shivarajkumar, and for all the support he got from him for the film.

The entire cast including Dhananjay, Pruthvi Ambaar, and Yasha Shivakumar, says they are blessed to share screen space with Shivanna.

"Bairagee is a story of a simple man with huge abilities. It's a lavishly-made feel-good commercial entertainer that can be enjoyed by the family audience. It will not be disappointing," says Shivanna.

Producer Krishna Sarthak, a fanboy of Shivarajkumar, is all excited about the release. "We are planning to release Bairagee on around 350 screens across Karnataka. Ahead of Shivanna's birthday, we are making a 60-feet cut-out of the Century Star at Sangam theatre, Mysuru. Meanwhile, there is a demand from Shivanna fans to hold a midnight show. We are working on it," Krishna Sarthak tells us.

Century Star, director Vijay Milton, producer Krishan Sarthak and the cast share their thoughts about the upcoming film Bairagee, slated for release on July 1

'WINDOW SEAT WOULDN'T HAVE BEEN POSSIBLE WITHOUT MY TEAM'

...says Sheetal Shetty, who talks in detail about her directorial debut, which she defines as a dark murder mystery with a deep love story

A SHARADHAA

SHEETAL Shetty, an anchor on a popular channel, later established herself as an actor in a handful of good flicks. Now, with Window Seat, she has taken up a new role as a director. Sheetal admits that she is going through mixed feelings ahead of the film's release this week. "There is a mixture of emotions. Having spent a lot of time on the project, I guess I have become possessive about Window Seat."

She is a self-taught person, but none of it has been her aspiration nor a dream. She considers all of this as part of her job. "I call it destiny and a chance to travel in new territories, and I hope it serves the purpose. My jobs as an anchor and actor were for survival. However, 'direction' is a passion, which I developed during my acting stints. After anchoring and a few acting projects, I took time to gain experience by doing video production for my company, She Tales. I later took to making documentaries and short films. My experience of working behind the screens since 2014, in a way, helped me direct," says the debutant director.

Sanjana Anand

Sheetal Shetty, who has roped in Nirup Bhandari, Amrutha Iyengar, and Sanjana Anand for Window Seat, defines the film as a dark murder mystery about a love story. It is the story, which fetched me the producer, and the artists. Interestingly, Window Seat, my first script, also became my directorial project. The story of Window Seat was written when I was going through a rough patch and a low phase in my professional life. What was written on just a piece of paper will now be on a big screen. Isn't it a big deal? Initially, I never thought of direction. However, my filmmaker friends felt that I should direct my own story," says Sheetal, who adds that she didn't take the job lightly, and made sure to acquire the necessary skills.

Sheetal is grateful to her friends Rishab Shetty and Rakshit Shetty for their advice and is equally thankful to the film's producer Jack Manju and Sudeep for their unflinching support.

"Whoever has watched Window Seat till now has only given positive feedback and that has given me confidence. It wouldn't have happened without my team," she says.

She is sitting on a few more scripts but will decide about her next step after seeing the response to Window Seat.

'DEAR VIKRAM PICTURES A COMMON MAN'S LIFE AND HIS FIGHT FOR RIGHTS'

...says Sathish Ninasam who is making his digital debut with this project

CE FEATURES

DEAR Vikram will be actor Sathish Ninasam's first OTT release. The political thriller, which marks the directorial debut of Nandeesh is backed by director Jacob Varghese. Dear Vikram stars Shraddha Srinath alongside Sathish, and also features Achyuth Kumar and Vasishta Simha in prominent characters. The film will begin streaming on Voot Select on June 30.

Sathish believes that Dear Vikram came at the right time in his career just as he was transitioning into a full-fledged hero. However, Dear Vikram has been in the making for a few years now, and the team faced a lot of challenges to ensure the film sees the light of day. "Thankfully, the subject makes it relevant even today, and the story talks about hot topics that have been in discussions," says Sathish, adding, "The struggle we went through in bringing out a film like Dear Vikram is as good as fighting for the social cause, and winning it."

The film was initially titled Godhra, which then resulted in the film running into hot water at the Censor Board. Sathish explains that the board suggested changing the name to Godhran, but the team went with naming the film after the protagonist. "The other challenge that we faced was during the shooting process. We had to wait for heavy rains to shoot some crucial portions. Then, I was asked to grow my beard and we waited for the scorching summer season to shoot other important sequences. Since the film spans a decade's journey of various characters, it required the team to shoot in different parts of India. Just when we were set to bring it to theatres, the pandemic caused a major hiccup, and that was a different fight altogether. Finally, the film is set for a release, and it will be my digital debut too."

Sathish Ninasam

Sathish plays Vikram, a journalism student, who is pushed to fight for various causes in society. The actor shares that Dear Vikram features Shraddha Srinath in a unique role, and the film revolves around the ideologies of Vikram, a common man Bharath (Vasishta Simha), and a political leader played by Achyuth."

Sathish disclaims that the story of Dear Vikram has no references to a real-life incident, but urges that the film is about the common man's life and his fight for rights. "Dear Vikram is a content-oriented film that neatly blends action and commercial elements," he says.

Madhavan

'I HOPE ROCKETRY WILL BE MY NAYAGAN'

..says Madhavan, whose directorial debut, a biopic of aerospace engineer, Nambi Narayanan, is all set for release this Friday

NAVEIN DARSHAN

21 July 2017, was when Madhavan last got a release (Vikram Vedha). Much might have changed in the last five years, but for Madhavan, the time has largely been spent on one film: Rocketry. The trilingual, which marks his innings as a director, writer and producer, is all set for launch this July 1, and even after all this time, Madhavan says he is still consumed by the world of Nambi Narayanan. "I haven't thought of any other film and have been fully dedicated to this project. I remember waking up plenty of nights dreaming about Rocketry. It is still very much part of my system," he says. "Sometimes, it was a bit frustrating to be so attached to one film. At the same time, I feel like a father of a bride. She will become a different person eventually, but I can just hold on to the memories of her. I don't know how to process all these emotions together."

Even though Madhavan has worked with elite directors in the country like Rajkumar Hirani, Mani Ratnam and Rakeysh Omprakash Mehra, he shares that he didn't know much about filmmaking before he commenced work on this film. "I didn't know what to do. I was clueless about the right way to communicate with an editor or composer. I saw an interview with Tarantino, in which he mentioned that the job of a director is to find people who understand the story and convey the vision… This was an eye-opener. If I was comparing my filmmaking finesse with Mani Ratnam's work or the dialogues with Rajkumar Hirani's writing, I would have never made this film. I have realised that you can only learn the craft from the stalwarts; the art has to be your own."

Naturally, it was hard to don so many hats for Rocketry. "If someone had introduced me to a person who has directed, produced, written, and acted in a film, I would likely laugh and judge them. This is because I believe all these departments require immense dedication. However, I was so compelled by Nambi Narayanan's story that I wanted to tell it at any cost." Madhvan shares that he found the life story of Nambi Narayan to be as thrilling as a James Bond film. "A ISRO scientist, a Maldivian girl, the affair between them, a wrong accusation, and the final victory at the Supreme Court… These were the pointers I had when I began this project. I wanted to make a nice, simple film. However, when I met the man, I was stunned. I felt there was a lot more to his life than just these highlights. I felt that if we didn't know about it, it would be a national disservice. People have a statue of the dog that went to space, but here, we don't even recognise the man who made our rocket mission possible."

Madhavan faced plenty of writing challenges. "Fitting the life of a man within two hours of film time is a challenge. When your protagonist is a person like Nambi Narayanan, it becomes close to impossible. Should I include that he won a case against the Supreme Court? Should I speak of him winning a Padma Bushan for making an extraordinary rocket engine? Should I talk about his sacrifices for the country?" he asks, rhetorically, and goes on to clarify that Rocketry won't be just another "whitewash biopic". "To make a person's journey believable, I have to make them as human as possible and to do that, I have to show their flaws. I made sure I asked Nambi Narayanan the hard questions. Did he sleep with someone? Did he have an affair? He is arrogant, short-tempered, and impatient. You will see all this in the film. To draw attention to his success, I need to show his humanity."

Madhavan never thought of another actor to play this role. "I don't think any actor understands rocket science the way I do. I know what the field is, and I have studied it extensively. So, I cast myself."

Madhavan, a huge admirer of Kamal Haasan, hopes that Rocketry will be his Naayagan. "It traces the entire life of the lead. I haven't used prosthetics for the old getup. I used alternate techniques like hair-bleaching and realigning my teeth." He also hopes he can make a follow-up to Rocketry if the film does exceptionally well at the box-office. "The duration of this film isn't sufficient to cover the life of Nambi Narayanan. If Rocketry does well, I can do a sequel. I feel that even if I made content for ten more hours, it would not be enough."

The actor-director hopes to take a break from direction and production, and focus on acting for the next couple of years. "I select scripts based on the mindset I am in. Right now, I am a happy father, and I want to buy a house I don't have. I am no longer the angry man. My interest is in making films that will elevate the way people look at Tamil and Indian people."
